BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate, that the Secretary of the Senate inform the House of Representatives that the Senate of the Second Regular Session of the Ninety-first General Assembly is duly convened and is now in session and ready for consideration of business.

Senator Staples offered the following resolution, which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules, Joint Rules, Resolutions and Ethics:

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 865

WHEREAS, Senator Richard M. Webster, long considered one of the most powerful and eloquent men in Missouri politics, for over three decades helped forge legislation that made Missouri a better place to live, work, raise a family, and receive an education; and

WHEREAS, Richard M. Webster was first elected to the Missouri House of Representatives in 1948, serving briefly as House Speaker in the early 1950s, and was elected to the Missouri Senate in 1962, serving as Senate Minority Leader for several years, and remaining a vital member of the Missouri Senate until his untimely death on March 4, 1990; and

WHEREAS, Senator Webster was a spellbinding speaker who sprinkled his Senate speeches with quotations from Abraham Lincoln, the Bible, and references to Senate decisions in years gone by; and

WHEREAS, Senator Webster, who served in the U. S. Coast Guard in World War II and later became a lawyer, used his eloquence to sway juries as well as his fellow legislators; and

WHEREAS, while he was not widely known outside Jasper County and Jefferson City, Senator Webster built a reputation as one of the most influential legislators in the State of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, Senator Webster served for most of his years in the Senate as a member of the powerful Committee on Administration and was a driving force in that Committee's decision to enclose the areas adjacent to the Chamber, now known as the Pershing and Bingham Galleries:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-first General Assembly, Second Regular Session, hereby designate the circular room on the west end of the Pershing Gallery adjoining the Senate Chamber on the third floor of the State Capitol as the "Richard M. Webster Room" in his honor; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Administration Committee cause the door to the room to be suitably inscribed.

Senator Wiggins offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 866

WHEREAS, preceded in death by his beloved mother, Judy Baker, Ted Baker is survived by a loving extended family which consists of his wife, Joan; two adorable children, six-year-old Michael and four-year-old Elizabeth; father, Jim Baker; grandmother, Eloise "Ebbie" Barnes; brother,

Andy Baker, and his wife, Lori; and three nieces and nephews, Katie, Matt, and Sarah; and

WHEREAS, born in 1966, Ted Baker grew up in Chillicothe, Missouri, and graduated from Chillicothe High School where he lettered in football, wrestling, and golf, and distinguished himself through competition in wrestling State Championships for four years in a row; and

WHEREAS, following an esteemed family tradition, Ted Baker attended the University of Missouri-Columbia, from which he earned a degree in 1988; and

WHEREAS, Ted Baker subsequently joined the staff of Edward Jones and worked in New York, Chicago, and St. Louis before establishing his own office in Mission, Kansas, in 1994; and

WHEREAS, Ted Baker loved his job and the people with whom his work brought him into contact, including his "office family" and his numerous clients; and

WHEREAS, a member of Visitation Catholic Church in Kansas City, Ted Baker worked with the Shawnee Mission Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Clubs; explored his limits and abilities with twice-weekly Tae Kwon Do classes; and fulfilled his spiritual yearnings for service through participation in church choir and leading first-grade Tiger Cubs at school:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-first General Assembly, join unanimously to honor the outstanding life and exemplary legacy of the late Ted Baker and to convey this legislative body's most heartfelt condolences to all of his family, friends, and colleagues, each of whom miss the passage of his tremendous warmth and inspiration from their daily lives; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution in memory of the late Ted Howard Baker of Kansas City, Missouri.

Senator Staples offered Senate Resolution No. 867, regarding Bill Hall, Farmington, which was adopted.

Senator Staples offered Senate Resolution No. 868, regarding Peggy Firestine, Bonne Terre, which was adopted.

President Pro Tem Kinder assumed the dais and addressed the members of the Senate.

Lt. Gov. Maxwell, fellow Senators, distinguished guests, and special friends, ladies and gentlemen. Isn't it great to be back up here?

In my reading last year, I ran across a wonderful line from Albert Einstein. Quoting that great man:

"The most beautiful thing we can experience is the mysterious. It is the source of all true art and science. He to whom this emotion is a stranger, who can no longer pause to wonder and stand rapt in awe, is as good as dead; his eyes are closed."

Surely upon entering this familiar old Senate chamber, we must all stand in awe at the beauty and majesty that surrounds us. This historic chamber, featuring these magnificent columns with their echoes of our Greco-Roman heritage, was before the most recent renovation already one of the grand legislative chambers in the world. Now it takes its place as incontestably among the most beautiful. In this magnificent renovation, the best of the art and science of which Einstein took note have combined to prepare this place for us to transact the people's business.

Sir Isaac Newton remarked that if he were able to see great distances, it is because, he noted, "I stand on the shoulders of giants." So too, today, it is we, all of us as temporary custodians of these positions of public trust, who stand on the shoulders of giants. The giants are our forebearers, who built this magnificent state Capitol, joined by the people of Missouri today who, speaking through their elected representatives some four years and more ago, voted for a multi-year Capitol renovation. To all these, it seems to me, we, you and I, owe a debt of gratitude and a salute, and a pledge to them that the work we are about here and now will be worthy of all they have bequeathed to us.

Those of us who were here when the great Senator, Emory Melton departed, after, I believe, six terms, 24 years here, just five and a half years ago, will recall his valedictory address in this chamber. Now, for myself, I was certain that Emory, who was as respected as any Senator who ever served, would offer priceless pearls of wisdom for us. I listened intently, Emory offered us two pieces of advice, you will recall. Read the bills, and stay in your seat. I have a theory. My guess, and we're going to test this theory over the next four and a half months, is that the astounding beauty of the aesthetics in this chamber will encourage more, as Emory counseled, to remain in our seats.

Now, one of my favorite philosophers is the native St. Louisan, Yogi Berra. Once, Yogi was asked his reaction to the astonishing news that a Jew had become Lord-Mayor of Dublin. Yogi's reply?

"Only in America."

Only in America, it seems, could the events of the last year and more have unfolded. After a 53-year period of unbroken one-party control of the Missouri Senate, special elections a year ago produced what once seemed unthinkable. A Republican Party that during the 1930s had seated only three members out of 34, and as recently as the 1960s seated only seven members, held a majority in the Missouri Senate. A slim majority, at 18-16, to be sure, but nonetheless a majority. This followed an historic period from the November, 2000 election to the January 24 special-election in which the two party caucuses, regarding each other rather like two scorpions in the bottle, nonetheless negotiated an historic power-sharing agreement between the senator from Clay and me as "co-Pro Tems." This was made manifest to all the world as he and I shared the Pro Tem's constitutional duties on the ceremonial occasion at the inaugural of the governor and the other constitutional officers.

Again I say, "Only in America", and in this specific case, "Only in Missouri," where we were doing peacefully the kind of transfer of power that in other countries is accomplished only by force of arms and bloodshed. It was said of the power-sharing agreement, with some justification, that it was a model for the nation and even for the federal Senate, as well. In other states it had taken five days and longer to elect Senate officers, in the case of a tie; in Missouri, we did it in a few minutes, because of the responsible and grown-up approach we brought to this challenge.

Our first year, being a human-led enterprise, was not without the mistakes and missteps attendant on all human endeavor. If I may return to Yogi for just a moment, he once informed his listeners that his team would win "if we can capitalize on our mistakes."

It is with Yogi's sense of good humor and candor that I freely acknowledge my own mistakes and manifest shortcomings. I ask your good will and indulgence as we attempt to carry off something no member of my party has done since 1948, and pledge to return the same to all who offer it to me.

Now, as I move toward the conclusion of these remarks a look back on the work product of the last year is in order, if only to remind ourselves of the sessions we produced in the year just concluded. As the year 2001 began, among the extraordinary circumstances I have just recounted, predictions of little accomplishment were the order of the day. Most arm-chair observers, and more than a few of our own members, seemed certain that the split-party control of the House and Senate would doom any chance for a good session. For myself, I was never of this opinion, but it was as common as blackberries in July.

The record reflects that on the night we adjourned sine die, May the 18th, the governor put out a press release claiming victory on 15 out of 18 legislative priorities. These included the remarkable passage of congressional redistricting - - passage few would have bet on just days before. Indeed, we are probably the only split-party legislature in America that passed a congressional redistricting map last year. Inside this agreement there was plenty for partisans of both sides to hate - - which may, if you think about it, be the test of a decent compromise in fulfilling what is, after all, our constitutional mandate. It stands as the remarkable and historic achievement that it is, and so requires no further embellishment from me or anyone else.

Then, following a session that saw passage of 15 out of 18 priorities, the governor called us into extraordinary session in September, specifying three subjects to be addressed. We senators convened early, well before the House came in, we stayed late and in eight days passed all three items the governor asked us to address and went home. He promptly signed all three.

This fall we completed a hiring process for vacancies in the staff of Senate Research, all but one of them owing to voluntary departure. We set up a screening panel headed by Marty Drewel and Joan Gummels, late of Senate Research, who recently left to become chief aide to the minority leader. Each will testify to three things, I believe: 1) that this speaker never involved himself in the process; 2) that no applicant was ever asked questions as to his or her politics; and 3) of most importance, that we were able to pick five candidates from the strongest pool of applicants our folks had ever seen.

All these lists I commend to you not to boast, still less to claim all these accomplishments as my own, for they belong to us all, but to make this overriding point: This record demonstrates beyond any contest that this Missouri Senate will work together with the governor and the speaker, across party lines, for the benefit of all Missourians, whenever we can achieve common ground.

It is equally important, however, to make this point as well: Where devotion to principle and constitutional government demand it, we will oppose any and all comers, including the governor, with equal vigor. The undisputed facts will show this to be true, as well.

As we convene today, we are well aware that we have present 32 of our full complement of 34 senators, with one vacancy to be filled at a special election next month. Sadly, some months ago, Senator Paula Carter died, after an extended battle with cancer. In attendance that morning at her funeral, I noticed, was more than half of the Senate at that funeral service, and still others I know had been present at the visitation the previous evening. I would, again, on behalf of all Senators, extend our heartfelt condolences to the friends, and to her family who survive.

We are also without, today, your Senate Minority Leader, the Senator from Clay. The Senator from Clay is recovering from surgery last Friday. I am told he is at home doing well, and expected to be with us very soon. We will all remember the Senator from Clay, his wife Jane, and his family in our hearts, and in our prayers.

And so, fortified by our strength of individual conviction and by our mutual respect and confidence, and by the rest we have earned since last we met in the cramped confines of a basement House hearing room, while this renovation proceeded, let us go forth to finish the work we are in. To air our differences, to be guided by the timeless truths etched into our walls, and not least, never to lose respect for each other as our sharply differing views clash inside this chamber. If we are true to these, then when we leave in May, of us it can be said that we did not betray the heritage bequeathed to you and me, and to all Missourians, despite our differences, Americans, one and all.

WHEREAS, the members of the Missouri Senate were truly saddened by the death of a former State Representative and an exemplary Missouri citizen, Annette Noble Morgan, on Tuesday, December 18, 2001, at the age of sixty-three; and

WHEREAS, born in Kennett, Missouri, Annette Morgan was a model member of an extended family known for its public service contributions and which included her grandfather, John Bradley, who served on the Missouri Supreme Court and the Springfield Court of Appeals; her mother, Alletha Noble, who was a lawyer and teacher; and her father, John Noble, a lawyer who served sixteen years as a state Senator; and

WHEREAS, to prepare for her chosen life's work, Annette Morgan earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in social work from the University of Missouri-Columbia and a Master of Arts degree in adult and continuing education from the University of Missouri-Kansas City; and

WHEREAS, Annette Morgan pursued a teaching career that began in the Bootheel with her helping migrant workers before she slightly shifted the focus of her endeavors to instruct at William Chrisman High School in Independence and to serve as coordinator of adult and continuing education at Avila College; and

WHEREAS, in 1981 Annette Morgan took her seat in the Missouri General Assembly where she quickly became known as a heartfelt advocate for education and a tireless proponent of educational and health legislation, including the Excellence in Education Act, a bill authorizing the first 24-hour skilled nursing facility in the Midwest for HIV-AIDS, and numerous others; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution in memory of the outstanding life and work of the late Annette Noble Morgan of Kansas City, Missouri.

Senator Jacob offered the following resolution:

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 879

Notice is hereby given by the Senator from the 19th District, pursuant to the one-day notice requirement of Senate Rule 97, of the intent to put forth a motion to adopt the following rule change:

WHEREAS, in order to protect the interests of all the citizens of the Missouri, it is essential that the Missouri Senate maintain employment practices of support staff that will facilitate the hiring and retention of competent professionals; and

WHEREAS, the elected Senators themselves and members of their immediate staff are essentially partisan, it is in the state's best interest for Senate support staff to be nonpartisan; and

WHEREAS, fifty-two years passed before there was a change in the majority party in the Missouri Senate, such change will always be subject to the outcome of elections every two years; and

WHEREAS, it clearly would not be in the Senate's or the state's best interest to replace support staff based on the outcome of elections; and

WHEREAS, it is natural that employees that are currently employed would have cause to believe that their job security is in question due to the change in partisan control and the overwhelming rate of turnover in support staff following the recent change in partisan control; and

WHEREAS, it is essential that support staff serve all Senators regardless of party affiliation such that the hiring decisions should be made outside a partisan environment and that such employment decision be on a consensus basis; and

WHEREAS, the Senate support staff should perform functions of a nonpartisan and nonpolitical nature and should remain nonpartisan and nonpolitical and should be able to perform their duties safe from fear of partisan and political retribution and in a fair nonpartisan employment environment; and

WHEREAS, there are a very limited number of positions which are best performed by individuals with a partisan or political relationship to the member or members:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that a Senate Committee on Safe and Fair Employment Practices composed of three Republicans and three Democrats be established to preside over any employment decisions affecting employees of the Senate, other than employees of the individual senators and their district offices; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this committee shall also periodically conduct a comprehensive review of staff functions and staff structure in those offices serving the body of the Missouri Senate and further determine what functions the staff should perform and whether the current allocation of resources most efficiently meets the needs of the Senate of today and tomorrow; and

WHEREAS, in 1958 at the height of the Cold War and just months after the Soviet Union launched Sputnik, a young American stunned the Soviet audience and the jury at the first Tchaikovsky International Piano Competition in Moscow. The nervous jury finally consulted with Premier Khrushchev about giving the prize to an American, rather than to the favored Russian pianist. To his credit, Khrushchev told the jury to give the prize to the best of the contestants, so the world was shocked to hear Van Cliburn of Kilgore, Texas announced the winner. Cliburn returned to a ticker tape parade down New York's Broadway and went on to a long and brilliant career as concert pianist; and

WHEREAS, four years after his return from Moscow, Van Cliburn helped create the Van Cliburn Foundation with the goal of holding an international piano competition, as does the Olympics, every four years. Today this is the premier international competition and has supplanted the Tchaikovsky International Competition, which ceased to exist; and

WHEREAS, this year saw the Eleventh Van Cliburn International Piano Competition in Fort Worth, Texas, a competition which began with 137 invited pianists to audition in seven cities around the world. The audition reduced the field to the 30 best from 11 countries, who were invited to Fort Worth for the Van Cliburn International; and

WHEREAS, Stanislav Ioudenitch began his life in the Soviet Republic of Uzbekistan, today a separate and free republic, yet his remarkable talent took him eventually to study with Dmitri Bashkirov at the Escuela Superior de Musica Reina Sofia in Madrid, Spain. From there he went to the prestigious International Piano Foundation in Cadenabbia, Italy--where he studied for two years; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Ioudenitch's skills were such that, as he continued his studies, he was able to perform with the orchestras of Munich Philharmonic and the Philharmonie der Nationen in Germany, the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington D.C. and his solo recitals have taken him to the former Soviet Union, Finland, Germany, Greece, Italy, and the United Kingdom; and

WHEREAS, during this period, Mr. Ioudenitch competed and won prestigious competitions--on the international scene, the 1990 Maria Callas and the 1994 Kapell Competitions and on the national scene, the 1998 Palm Beach Invitational and the 2000 New Orleans International Competition; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Ioudenitch's decision to round out his training and to pursue a doctorate, brought him to Missouri, where he enrolled at the University of Missouri-Kansas City's Conservatory of Music. He chose as his mentor Dr. Robert Weirich who occupies the Jack Strandberg/Missouri Chair in Piano. This Chair was created and funded by the Missouri General Assembly and Janet T. Strandberg, wife of the late Jack Strandberg. Its aim, which all Chairs hold, is to attract a world-class teacher and to honor someone in a significant manner; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Ioudenitch, as one of the 137 who auditioned for entry into the Van Cliburn competition, was selected by the jury and designated one of the 30 who would be invited to Fort Worth to face the series of elimination hurdles that lead to a Gold Medal. Then he was selected from the 30 to join the 12 semifinalists. As a semifinalist he had to play another recital and then play with the renowned Takács Quartet, as did all semifinalists. For his performance with the quartet, he won the Steven De Grote Memorial Award for the Best Performance of Chamber Music and was selected one of the six finalists. The six finalists had to play two concerti with the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Stanislav Ioudenitch was awarded the Gold Medal and, for the first time, the jury declared a tie and awarded a Gold Medal as well to Olga Kern of Russia; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Ioudenitch has brought fame to himself, to his home in Uzbekistan, to his teachers, to UMKC's Conservatory of Music, to the University of Missouri and to the State of Missouri:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate pause in their deliberations to salute Stanislav Ioudenitch on his outstanding accomplishment of winning the Van Cliburn competition Gold Medal for 2001, express their congratulations and appreciation for the great honor and international recognition Mr. Ioudenitch has brought to the University of Missouri-and to the State of Missouri, and extend to Mr. Ioudenitch, his family and many friends very best wishes for many long years continued good health, success and happiness; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for Mr. Stanislav Ioudenitch; Chancellor, Dr. Martha Gilliland, University of Missouri-Kansas City; Dean, Randall Pembroke, University of Missouri-Kansas City; Conservatory of Music; and President, Dr. Manuel T. Pacheco, University of Missouri.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senator Stoll offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 35

WHEREAS, under the Balanced Budget Act of 1997, Congress mandated that ambulance services be placed on a fee schedule for Medicare reimbursement; and

WHEREAS, to develop the fee schedule, Congress required that a Negotiated Rulemaking Committee be convened to establish certain policies of the fee schedule and implementation of the rule establishing this fee schedule is planned for April of 2002; and

WHEREAS, the fee schedule is based on four-year old cost data, and additionally, Medicare will only pay 80% of the lesser amount of either the actual charge from the ambulance provider or the Fee Schedule Amount and the patient will be responsible for the remaining 20%;

WHEREAS, Ambulance services will no longer be able to bill the patient any amount beyond the 20% coinsurance and any unmet deductible, then ambulance services will have to absorb any cost over and above the fee schedule amount; and

WHEREAS, by requiring the Medicare schedule to be accepted as total payment, providers (including hospitals, public utility model systems and private operators) who have had low Medicare allowable charges will not be able to balance-bill the patients for the difference and the burden will be on the ambulance service to shoulder the reimbursement that is below today's costs or stop providing service, and the Schedule requires reimbursement at a basic life support rate for some procedures that are considered to be advanced life support measures; and

WHEREAS, although national practice standards and state training requirements mandate that some procedures be performed by paramedics, the Medicare program will only pay for the service at the basic, EMT rate, thus, ambulance services will have to further supplement the cost of services by paying the higher paramedic salary for services that will be reimbursed at the lower EMT allowable cost, or discontinue offering the higher level of emergency care; and

WHEREAS, the revised fee takes effect immediately in April, 2002, and the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services will not allow a transition period for providers who in the past have billed runs at the paramedic (advanced life support) level on every call because of local ordinances that require advanced life support on every call; and

WHEREAS, local communities will have to decide if they are going to continue to require services to provide the advanced life support level of care, and since Medicare is reducing support for this higher level of care, communities may have to downgrade to a basic life support, thereby decreasing the level of emergency care available to Missourians:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-First General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urge Congress to redesign the ambulance fee schedule for Medicare reimbursement to take into consideration current actual cost data and support of advanced life support emergency medical services because without these considerations, Missourians cannot be assured that they will receive the level of medical services they need in times of a medical emergency; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the Missouri Congressional delegation.

The Joint Committee appointed to wait upon the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Stephen N. Limbaugh, Jr., escorted the Chief Justice to the dais where he delivered the State of the Judiciary Address to the Joint Assembly:

The State of the Judiciary

91st General Assembly, Second Regular Session

January 15, 2002

President Maxwell, Speaker Kreider, distinguished members of the Senate and House of Representatives. My office in the beautiful red brick building across the street is adorned with photographs and wall hangings and tables full of mementos and newspaper clippings and all sorts of personal reminders of my family and my career and my many blessings. Prominently displayed on one wall is a framed copy of the collection of photographs of each of the members of the House of Representatives who served in the 56th General Assembly some 70 years ago in 1931 and 1932. The original of the collection hangs on the fourth floor of this building, and my copy is one of the items in my office that I cherish most. You see, one of the photographs depicts my grandfather, the original "Rush Limbaugh," who passed away just six years ago at age 104.

My grandfather served only one term. He didn't run for reelection. He said he couldn't afford it! But he looked back on those two short years with immense pride. While here, he co-sponsored the bill that created the Missouri State Highway Patrol and another bill that consolidated many dozens of tiny rural public school districts like that which operated the one-room school he attended as a child. And as a lawyer-legislator, he was one of three members of the House selected to prosecute the impeachment trial of the state treasurer for misdeeds in office. Although my grandfather served only one term, he always regarded the honor of serving as a member of the House of Representatives to be one of the highlights of his long career and, indeed, one of the highlights of his long life.

I learned about the honor of service, the honor of public service, first from my grandfather, then from my father, who is a senior United States District Judge. Having served on the bench myself for nearly 15 years, first as a circuit judge and now as a judge on the Supreme Court, I appreciate more than ever the honor of my office and the responsibilities that go with it.

The honor of serving the public is the theme of my presentation on the state of the judiciary. Those who serve as judges, like those who serve in the General Assembly, must do so for the honor of serving the public. In my mind, the best account of the state of the judiciary is to show how our judiciary lives up to that honor. To that end, and on behalf of our judges at every level of the judiciary, I invite you to our courthouses, so that you may see first hand the administration of justice in this state. A visit to our courthouses, for you legislators who may be concerned about the doctrine of separation of powers, is no breach of protocol. To be sure, our forefathers built into our system of government a healthy tension between the three branches of government, but that tension should not preclude a healthy interaction between the three branches of government.

This very afternoon, we will hear oral arguments in the Supreme Court. You are invited. There are two cases on the docket, and they are representative of our usual fare in the sense that they are cases that present the novel and difficult and complex legal issues of the day. The first case is State of Missouri v. Planned Parenthood and The Director of the Missouri Department of Health, which deals with the constitutionality of and eligibility for family planning appropriations related to abortion services. The second case is State of Missouri v. Andre Cole, the direct appeal of a death sentence. If you cannot attend in person, you may tune in on the Internet.

Should you favor us with a visit, you will see the members of the Court engage in a vibrant, if sometimes esoteric, dialogue with the lawyers representing their clients. You will see the difficulty and complexity of the issues raised by the parties. You will see how we members of the Court struggle with those issues in an effort to follow the law as written in our constitution and the statutes you enact. And it is our hope that you will understand that the resolution of the cases depends not on our personal preferences, or even on our personal notion of the equities involved, but on our abiding oath to follow the law as written in our constitution and the statutes you enact.

This afternoon will be the last time our colleague, Judge John Holstein, sits with the Court, as he has announced his retirement after 27 years on the bench. Judge Holstein is the only judge in the history of the state to have served at every level of the judiciary -- as magistrate/probate judge, associate circuit judge, circuit judge, judge of the court of appeals, and for the last 12 years, judge of the Supreme Court. As a consequence of his wealth of experience, he brought to the Supreme Court a special insight on so many difficult legal issues, not only those involving the processing and trial of cases, but those involving the substance of the law as well. Without fail, he served with honor and dignity, and with an unswerving commitment to our system of justice. We will miss him, and we wish him well as he returns to private practice.

Judge Holstein, would you stand to be recognized.

Though the difficult and weighty legal issues of the day are addressed in the Supreme Court, it is even more important that you visit the county courthouses throughout the state where every day, in hundreds of cases, justice is meted out person to person, face to face. The judges there will welcome you.

The decision-making process in the trial courts is different than that in the appellate courts. In general, appellate courts address only issues involving the application of the law, and they defer to the factual determinations made in the trial courts by judges and juries that have had the benefit of seeing the witnesses and hearing their testimony in person. Those of you who have served on juries know the difficulty and frustration of sorting out conflicting testimony, of determining whether seemingly believable witnesses are telling the truth, fabricating falsehoods, or perhaps simply mistaken. Trial judges sort out that testimony for a living, presiding over the great majority of cases that are tried without a jury. But that is only part of the job. After the factual determinations of a case are made, it is necessary to fashion a proper resolution. It is a hard thing to sit in judgment on another person, whether in the imposition of sentence in a criminal case, or the assessment of damages in a civil case, or the determination of custody and support in a dissolution case. The resolution of such cases requires more than the mere application of the law to the facts, the resolution requires the exercise of sound discretion.

When you visit your county courthouse, go first to the criminal courts. There you will find judges striving to maintain the balance between society's need for vigorous prosecution of criminal offenders and the equally important need to ensure to those who are accused of criminal offenses the fundamental and inalienable rights associated with the presentation of their defense. The vast majority of cases are disposed by pleas of guilty without a trial, and, as I mentioned, most of the cases that go to trial are tried without a jury. In all those criminal cases, the judge must exercise his or her sound discretion in imposing punishment. You will see some cases that call for righteous indignation and a severe sentence, and other cases that call for a measure of compassion and a chance for redemption on probation. You will see that the saving of souls is a large part of the judge's work, and that for each judge, the dispositions in criminal cases are ultimately matters of conscience.

Allow me to offer two examples from my own experience that are representative of the kinds of cases on the dockets of the criminal courts. As a circuit judge, I heard only one death penalty case. Under the law, the range of punishment in those cases is simply death, or life imprisonment without parole. Like all death penalty cases, the crime in this case was horrendous. It involved an execution-style murder. The victim was bound up and shot in the back of the head. And so the prosecutor justifiably argued that the death penalty should be imposed. Defense counsel argued for a life sentence because the defendant did not have a significant history of criminal offenses, and the defendant, himself, was genuine in expressing remorse for his conduct and sympathy for his victim. In addition, he had pled guilty instead of going to trial. Unlike most of the defendants we see in capital cases, this man seemed salvageable, and I sentenced him to life in prison without parole.

The other case involved a defendant charged with felony child abuse. She was the mother of the child in question. The young child had been beaten and sexually abused. During the plea of guilty, it became clear that although a boyfriend was the actual perpetrator, the defendant, who had not been in any danger herself, knew of the abuse and allowed it to go on. Evidence also was developed, as is often the case, that the defendant had been the victim of similar abuse during her own upbringing. The discretionary call to be made was how best to cut the generational cycle of abuse -- to send the defendant to prison so that she would understand the consequences of her acts and be deterred from those acts in the future, or to try to rehabilitate her by placing her on probation with conditions that she undergo counseling and therapeutic treatment and courses on parenting skills. I learned, however, that on more than one occasion before the offense occurred, the defendant had been reported to the Division of Family Services and that earlier efforts to rehabilitate her obviously had failed. In that case, I sent the defendant to prison.

As I said, these are the kinds of cases that confront our judges every day. There are hard cases, and it is not unusual for us to second-guess the wisdom of our decisions. Was the punishment too harsh? Was it not harsh enough? Have we lived up to the honor of our office by doing justice in the case?

On your visit to the courthouse, I also would direct you to the courtrooms in which our judges hear domestic cases -- dissolutions, motions to modify custody and support, cases involving emergency orders of protection, and the like. In the cities and the larger outstate circuits, domestic cases are heard in statutory family courts, presided over by judges who have special training in that area of the law. The common experience of judges who hear domestic cases is that all too often they see people at their worst, people who are ordinarily good and decent folks, but whose lives are in turmoil and trauma because of the breakup of a marriage or a battle over custody of their children. In many cases, it is no small chore for judges to divide the marital property, but that chore is nothing compared to the obligation to divide up the kids. It should be no wonder to you that the rate of attrition for judges working in the family courts is very high, and most judges transfer to the criminal or civil courts after two or three years. Except for a few saintly types like my friends Judge Tom Frawley in St. Louis City and Judge Susan Block in St. Louis County, burn out is unavoidable. Our sense of empathy for the parties to those cases -- the anguish that we feel for both the parents and the children -- can, after a time, be difficult to bear.

To draw on my own experience once again, I remember the visit to my court by my then state representative, and your longtime colleague, Mary Kasten. Undoubtedly, you remember that she was actively involved in issues pertaining to children and families, and on the day of her visit, I was hearing a child custody case. At the request of counsel for both sides, I agreed to conduct a closed-door examination of the child who, as I recall, was 8 or 9 years old. Although the arrangement was that neither the parents nor the lawyers would be present, everyone agreed that Representative Kasten, who as you know has always been a soothing influence, could sit in with me.

I took the child to the jury room, and my court reporter and I sat with him at the conference table while Representative Kasten sat off to the side. I began with gentle questions designed to impress upon the child the importance of telling the truth and to assure the child that I was there solely to look out after his best interest. After I spent some time with questions about his school and his outside activities and his friends, I got around to the tough part. The exchange was something like this:

Do you love your mom? Yes.

Do you love your dad? Yes.

Do you like to be with your mom? Yes.

Do you like to be with your dad? Yes.

If you can't be with both of them, would you be happier with your mom or with your dad? I want to be with both of them and I want them to be together.

I don't remember how I decided this case, but as you can see, there was no good solution available. In any event, Mary Kasten went away with the kind of understanding of the work of the courts that I wish all of you could have.

That said, whatever you learn from your trip to the courthouse still will not give you a full picture of the obligation of judges. Our judges know full well that the effort to live up to the honor of their office must not stop at the courthouse door and that the honor of their office means more than the competent and professional processing of cases. In that regard, our judges statewide donate their time and talents to a host of activities that pertain to the improvement of the administration of justice as a whole. Some judges serve on our continuing education committees that provide essential training not only for judges, but also for court clerks, court reporters and juvenile officers. Most courses are taught by the judges, themselves, some of whom have become master teachers. Other judges, like Judge Robert Dierker of St. Louis, contribute with their writing skills. For instance, Judge Dierker has been instrumental in the preparation and publication of our scholarly and immensely practical Trial Judges Bench Books, and he recently published an invaluable treatise on the practice of criminal law in Missouri.

My immediate predecessor as chief justice, Judge Ray Price, chairs the Drug Court Commission, and serves with several other judges, legislators and executive branch officials. Certainly the work of that Commission, which is to make available alternatives to incarceration for non-violent drug offenders, is critically important in these times where there is no money to open new prisons, even those that are already built.

In addition, Judge Richard Teitelman of the Court of Appeals in St. Louis, who is sight-impaired, chairs the Supreme Court's Ad Hoc Committee on the Courts and the Disabled. He serves with several other interested members of the judiciary, as well as with a number of lay persons and with Representative Chuck Graham who has provided his valuable insight and assistance. The Committee is undertaking a survey of our courtrooms and the practices in our courts so that we can ensure that reasonable accommodations are provided to persons with disabilities. We judges want to convey the message that equal access to justice necessarily means equal access to the courthouse.

Indeed, there is a wide variety of administrative committees, and the list of judges who volunteer for the work of those committees is extensive. We have committees that address issues ranging from the review and promulgation of jury instructions in both civil and criminal cases, to forms and procedures for judicial record keeping, to the administration of examinations for our certified court reporters, to mention just a few.

One administrative committee that merits particular attention is the statutorily created Missouri Court Automation Committee. The Committee is composed not only of judges, but also of court clerks and legislators, and the primary purpose, as you know, is to provide a uniform, statewide computerization system that gives courts greater capacity to manage dockets while allowing instant access to all public court records. Senators Jacob and Klindt, and Representatives Carnahan and Crowell, serve as the legislative members of the committee and are becoming well versed on the issues. The project is half-complete, and the need has never been greater, especially from the standpoint of law enforcement and public safety.

A case in point occurred three years ago when a Missouri State Highway Patrol trooper was shot and killed while making an arrest. The arrestee was wanted on felony warrants from another Missouri county, but the trooper had no idea of the need for extra caution because of the delay in manual transmission of the warrant information from the court to the Highway Patrol. One feature of court automation on the immediate horizon is the near real-time transmission of warrant information and adult protection orders to the Highway Patrol for statewide access by law enforcement agencies. It is a feature that may well save lives.

The extracurricular work of our judges is by no means limited to the work of our administrative committees. In that connection, I must admit that I have long looked forward to the opportunity to showcase the selfless public service performed by so many of our judges.

Consider the example of my friend Jack Garrett who is presiding judge of the 37th Circuit in southern Missouri. For about 5 years running, Judge Garrett and his chief juvenile officer have sponsored an annual conflict resolution task force for teenagers. They target 7th grade students in each of the circuit's 19 school districts. With the assistance of college students from SMSU, they conduct small group seminars to address issues such as bullying, school violence and substance abuse. In addition, Judge Garrett sponsors an annual mediation camp and workshop for students in grades 6 through 8, training those students to develop and implement peer-mediation panels in their schools.

In Kansas City, our family court judges have implemented a truancy diversion program in which several judges, led by Judge Steve Nixon and Judge Marco Roldan, meet with "at risk" children and their parents or parent once each week at 7:30 a.m. The judges discuss not only the truancy problem, but also other family needs that may be contributing to the problem, including the child's safety and well-being and parental accountability for the child's needs. Last summer, Judge Nixon took the children he is working with to a Royals baseball game. Judge Roldan has found his Hispanic roots to be of value in working with the families at the McCoy Elementary School where English is a second language.

The truancy diversion program originated in St. Louis City and County where it continues to flourish. The two saintly judges I mentioned earlier, Tom Frawley in the City and Susan Block in the County, are the chief administrative judges of their respective family courts. In that capacity, they have assembled teams of judges and an occasional lawyer who make weekly visits to troubled children in the city and county school districts.

Circuit Judge Joan Burger, who sits in a criminal division of the Circuit Court of St. Louis City, is one of the volunteers for the truancy program. Several weeks ago she authored an article published in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch describing the program, and I have taken the liberty of sending a copy of that article to each one of you. She wrote that "My motivation is simply this: 85 percent of the people in prison are high school dropouts. I thought that if I can keep them in school, then maybe I won't have to send them to prison." I ask that you read about the details of the program yourselves, but I'll share Judge Burger's conclusion: "In most cases, attendance improves immediately. All the words and threats and tears of parents, teachers and counselors haven't worked, but the authority of the judge and the frequent court dates turn these kids around." Despite that conclusion, progress is often made in small steps. According to Judge Burger, "One child was doing poorly in history, so I gave him an assignment of going to the library and bringing a history book to court. He brought me [a book on] the history of skateboarding!"

I also want to mention another St. Louis City judge, Judge Henry Autrey, a former prosecutor, who serves in a number of other ways. He speaks to various groups on the issue of child abuse prevention. He also participates in reading exercises and tutoring programs for young children at city schools. But his most personally fulfilling service is playing the role of Santa Claus for the elderly residents at a local nursing home. According to Judge Autrey, "We forget the sacrifices they made and the hard work they endured so that we could achieve our personal successes."

And then there is my new colleague on the Supreme Court, Judge Laura Stith, who, despite her appointment to this Court, continues her service as a charter member of a Kansas City organization called LEAP, Lawyers Encouraging Academic Performance. For two or three hours every week, Judge Stith and several other judges take one or two grade school girls each, girls who are from the inner city, from needy families, and some from homeless families, and they buy their school supplies, tutor them, mentor them, and help them through school.

I apologize for having spent too much time dwelling on the challenges and difficulties and the sacrifices of judicial service. We judges are honored to serve. That honor comes first and foremost from the fact that we are the ones entrusted to resolve the challenging and difficult cases of the day. When we are able to resolve those cases with competence, professionalism, impartiality and dispatch -- indeed when we resolve those cases with justice -- our jobs are fulfilling and rewarding beyond measure.

It must be said, too, that not all of our cases pose challenges and difficulties, but the honor of serving is present nonetheless. As a trial judge, among my favorite cases were adoption cases, which I handled for two or three years as part of my duties as a judge of the juvenile court. I held juvenile court on Fridays, and I heard adoption cases on the first Friday of each month, except in December, when I saved all the adoption cases for the Friday before Christmas. Adoption cases fall into several categories, the adoption of children from unwanted pregnancies, the adoption of children of parents whose parental rights were terminated for abuse or neglect, step-parent adoptions, and international adoptions of orphaned children who are given hope for a bright future in the United States. Unlike other cases where all too often we see people at their worst and the conflicts presented seem irreconcilable and the solutions we have to offer are less than satisfactory, in adoption cases we see people at their best, and the only complications are those in tying up the legal loose ends to ensure that the adoptive child will have the blessing of a safe home and loving family.

At the conclusion of one of the first adoption cases I heard, a remarkable thing happened. As I pronounced judgment, the lawyer representing the adoptive family asked leave to approach the bench. Instinctively, I thought there must be a problem. But the lawyer came up to me and whispered, "Judge, would you mind having your picture taken with the new family?" And so I came down off the bench in my black robe, and I took the young child in my arms flanked by the two proud parents with tears in their eyes, and the guardian ad litem, not about to miss out on the action, snapped picture after picture. And we all rejoiced!

Now that is an honor! From that day forward, lawyers in my adoption cases didn't have to ask if I would mind having my picture taken with the new family, I insisted!

In conclusion, I wish that each of you could experience the great honor to serve as judge of this state, but I am sure that my grandfather had it right -- that each of you feels the same way about the great honor you have of serving in the legislature.

As you progress with the session, I ask that you take fair account of the needs of the judiciary.

And finally, for all the good work you will do for the citizens of this state, I bid you Godspeed.

Thank you.

On motion of Senator Kenney, the Joint Session was dissolved and the Senators returned to the Chamber where they were called to order by Senator Klarich.

A reading from the letter of James

The harvest of justice is sown in peace by those who make peace

Jas 3, 13-18

If one of you is wise and understanding, let him show this in practice through a humility filled with good sense. Should you instead nurse bitter jealousy and selfish ambition in your hearts, at least refrain from arrogant and false claims against the truth. Wisdom like this does not come from above. It is earthbound, a kind of animal, even devilish cunning. Where there are jealousy and strife, there also are inconstancy and all kinds of vile behavior. Wisdom from above, by contrast, is first of all innocent. It is also peaceable, lenient, docile, rich in sympathy and the kindly deeds that are its fruits, impartial and sincere. The harvest of justice is sown in peace for those who cultivate peace.

The Word of the Lord.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

SEVENTH DAY--MONDAY, JANUARY 21, 2002

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Senator Klarich in the Chair.

"I have taught you the way of wisdom; I have led you in the paths of uprightness. When you walk your step will not be hampered; and if you run, you will not stumble." (Proverbs 4:11-12)

Gracious God, we remember Your servant Martin Luther King who walked in the path that You led him to take, to teach us to love one another and not let race or color or labels get in the way of doing what You have taught us is right. Help each of us to continue along this path so our work here may help and direct all men and women to the path of righteousness and courage. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

Journal of the Senate

EIGHTH DAY--TUESDAY, JANUARY 22, 2002

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

President Maxwell in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"...if you indeed cry out for insight, and raise your voice for understanding,...then you will understand righteousness and justice and equity, every good path." (Proverbs 2:3, 9)

Gracious Father, the ups and downs of life are often confusing and challenging for us and so we ask, give to us Your blessings and inspiration so that we may grow wiser and more disciplined in our daily living, so we may learn to live in peace and our minds renewed by Your word every day. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

A quorum being established, the Senate proceeded with its business.

The Journal of the previous day was read and approved.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 37

WHEREAS, cancer is a leading cause of morbidity and mortality in the State of Missouri and throughout the Nation; and

WHEREAS, cancer is disproportionately a disease of the elderly, with more than half of all cancer diagnoses occurring in persons 65 years of age or older who are thus dependent on the federal Medicare program for provision of cancer care; and

WHEREAS, since treatment with anti-cancer drugs is the cornerstone of modern cancer care, elderly cancer patients must have access to potentially life-extending drug therapy, but the Medicare program's coverage of drugs is limited to injectable drugs or oral drugs that have an injectable version; and

WHEREAS, the Nation's investment in biomedical research has begun to bear fruit with a compelling array of new oral anti-cancer drugs that are less toxic, more effective, and more cost-effective than existing therapies, but because such drugs do not have an injectable equivalent, they are not covered by Medicare; and

WHEREAS, noncoverage of these important new products leaves many Medicare beneficiaries confronting the choice of either substantial out-of-pocket personal costs or selection of more toxic, less effective treatments that are covered by the program; and

WHEREAS, Medicare's failure to cover oral anti-cancer drugs leaves at risk many beneficiaries suffering from blood-related cancers like leukemia, lymphoma, and myeloma, as well as cancers of the breast, lung, and prostate; and

WHEREAS, certain members of the United States Congress have recognized the necessity of Medicare coverage for all oral anti-cancer drugs and introduced legislation in the 107th Congress to achieve such result (H.R. 1624 and S. 913):

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Senate of the Ninety-first General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, respectfully urge the United States Congress to adopt legislation requiring the Medicare program to cover all oral anti-cancer drugs; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States, the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Administrator of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, and each member of the Missouri Congressional Delegation.

Journal of the Senate

NINTH DAY--WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 2002

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

President Maxwell in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"For you who revere my name the sun of righteousness shall rise, with healing in its wings, says the Lord of hosts." (Malachi 4:2)

Heavenly Father, as the sun shines upon us we recognize how in Your presence we are given the opportunity to help those who are in serious need in our state. We recognize the limited resources available and how we must set priorities on how we make use of them. Let what we do assist in healing those who are broken and/or in need that they, too, may revere Your name. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

A quorum being established, the Senate proceeded with its business.

The Journal of the previous day was read and approved.

Photographers from KODE-TV, Joplin, were given permission to take pictures in the Senate Chamber today.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS

By

Governor Bob Holden

"MEETING OUR CHALLENGES TOGETHER"

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. President Pro Tem, Distinguished State Officials, Mr. Chief Justice, members of the Missouri State Supreme Court, members of the 91st General Assembly, and citizens of the State of Missouri:

The state of our state today, like the state of our nation, is one of challenge.

We are challenged from without by a terrorist threat.

We are challenged from within by a recession that grips not only Missouri, but all of America.

We are challenged to live within our means while we continue to provide for those who most need our help and while we continue to build Missouri's future.

It's tough, but we are going to get it done.

We are Missourians, and we know how to work together to meet our challenges.

That's the kind of thing you learn about early in life when you grow up like I did in a small Ozark community.

A community where everyone was just trying to get by -- to keep a roof overhead, food on the table, clothes on our backs, and the bills paid.

A big Saturday night at our house was popping popcorn, splitting a couple of Cokes among six people, and going to a drive-in movie.

We didn't have a lot, and what we had wasn't fancy.

But we were among the most fortunate kids in our community because we had a loving and supportive family.

Raising a family in Birch Tree, Missouri, in the 1950s and 1960s was a real challenge for many.

But my parents never saw it that way.

They saw it as an opportunity -- an opportunity to raise their children in a caring and safe environment.

An opportunity to raise us in a place where with a little struggle and a little sacrifice you could give your children a better tomorrow.

A place where as a family and a community you could all stick together and get the job done.

I've thought about those days a lot over the last few months as our Missouri economy has slid from record growth to recession.

I've thought about the examples the people of Birch Tree set for us while I was growing up -- each generation doing its part so the next generation would have greater opportunities.

There is no better example of this than one set recently by an outstanding Missourian.

She has joined us here today, and I want you to meet her.

She had some unusual aspirations while she was growing up in southeast Missouri.

While other young women dreamed of becoming doctors or business executives or teachers or shopkeepers, she dreamed of becoming something girls couldn't be.

She wanted to be an astronaut.

She never missed the coverage of a space launch -- often watching with her father who worked as a machinist at a factory.

And she didn't dwell on insurmountable barriers standing in her way -- for example, the fact that NASA wouldn't even consider women applicants for astronaut duty.

In spite of this, she knew if she was ever to realize her dream, she would need to get the best education possible.

And she got that education right here in our Missouri public schools.

She graduated from high school in Jackson, Missouri, and received her undergraduate degree at Southeast Missouri State University.

Then she did graduate work at the University of Missouri-Columbia where she received a master's degree in science and a doctorate in physics.

In her spare time, she learned to fly.

In 1978, when NASA began taking women applicants for the astronaut corps, Linda knew that instead of having no chance to become an astronaut, she would now have one chance in a million.

She was one of only a hundred applicants to be interviewed out of the thousands that applied.

On her first and second go-around, she was turned down.

And after two rejections, I am sure a lot of us would think there are other ways to make a living.

But our honored guest doesn't think that way.

She was persistent, and in the newspapers and on television not too long ago, there were pictures of her at work.

On the International Space Station.

As a member of the crew of Space Shuttle Endeavour.

This young woman who once walked the hills and fields of rural Missouri, dreaming great dreams and gazing up at the stars, gazed down on Missouri as she walked in space.

Today she walks with us.

She is here with her husband, a former astronaut himself who hails from our neighboring state of Illinois.

Ladies and gentlemen, please welcome home our Missouri astronaut Linda Godwin and her husband Steven Nagel.

Linda and Steven, would you please stand.

Linda Godwin's accomplishments are a shining example of how all children growing up in Missouri can rise to meet their personal challenges if they work hard, and if we -- their parents and teachers -- provide the opportunity and support for a good education.

The lessons we must take from Linda Godwin are as important as they are obvious.

In times of challenge, we must keep sight of our goals.

We must stick together.

We must get the job done.

The economic outlook confronting the state of Missouri in fiscal year 2003 presents a major challenge.

We were experiencing record prosperity through the late 1990s.

But now we are in the midst of a national recession -- made even more severe by the events of September 11th.

As Governor, I have a constitutional responsibility to keep the state budget in balance, and I will do so.

As all of you sitting in this chamber know, the state's budget is not all that different from the budget every Missouri family has at home.

Once you take out the money you have to spend on basics like food, rent, and outstanding bills, the amount you actually have control over is only a small fraction of what you take in.

So in formulating the state's spending plan for this year, we are going to have to do what all Missouri families do when they gather around the kitchen table to look at their budgets.

We will make some tough choices that will limit state spending to the amount of our projected revenue.

And we will do so without an across-the-board-tax increase.

In doing this, we will be guided by four key principles.

First, we will redouble our efforts to reduce government waste and to improve the efficiency and management of the administration of state government.

We have had success in this area, but we must do more.

At a time when we must ask some Missourians to accept less in state services, we must be able to assure all that they are getting the most from every dollar we spend on running state government.

Second, in making the hard choices to reduce programs and spending, we have tried to protect services as best we could for those who need us the most -- the children, the elderly and the disabled.

Third, we will refuse to allow the challenges of the present to prevent us from building Missouri's future.

And fourth and most important, we will keep as our first priority the education of our children.

We will provide full funding with full accountability for our K-12 public schools.

We should not rest until all our schools and all our students are performing at their maximum potential.

Because I know all of you share my belief that educating our children is our top priority, I ask your help in approving important legislation to achieve these goals.

Now, let's get to some specifics.

THE BUDGET

Last year I directed our state budget office to begin the most thorough review of the state budget ever conducted.

This performance-based review evaluates the results Missourians receive for their money in every program that our tax dollars fund.

Then I asked our departments to submit plans for how these programs would be changed if their funding was cut by 5, 10, and 15 percent.

This has allowed us to have the most thorough information ever compiled on Missouri state services.

And we have used this information to make the tough budget decisions that lie ahead.

The budget I am recommending today is smaller than the one you approved last year.

The amount of general revenue we have coming in is slowing down.

At the same time, costs for essential services and the population needing those services continue to grow.

Health care costs in Medicaid and for state employees are rising dramatically.

The largest increases are in the pharmacy programs as the cost of prescription drugs continues to escalate.

But if expenses and our served populations are going up and less money is coming in, then we must cut agency budgets.

As you know, we took dramatic steps to reduce state spending twice in 2001.

Altogether, we have reduced spending by $612 million in the year since I took office.

Cuts in administrative costs have been deep -- from 15 to 30 percent in many places.

None of those were easy decisions.

And, unfortunately, all of those decisions together are not enough to keep us living within our means in the face of the deepening recession after September 11th.

The budget for fiscal year 2003 that I am proposing today is also filled with tough decisions.

Today, in order to balance the 2003 fiscal year budget, I am recommending $480 million in core budget cuts.

These cuts demand that state government become smaller.

This new budget reduces the state work force by 688 positions.

Most of these will come from eliminating positions that are currently being held vacant.

We have agonized over this budget.

Our state budget staff and our department heads have provided many new ideas and innovative solutions to stretch our money as far as possible.

I thank them all for their efforts, which have been key to safeguarding vital public services.

Nevertheless, we remain in a position in which entire programs -- good programs -- will be eliminated.

Our state employees, who work so hard to deliver our state services, will go another year without a pay raise.

I regret that very much.

We value the work our state employees do on behalf of all Missourians, and we take actions that will affect their quality of life only as a last resort in these extremely challenging times.

And while I have made hard decisions, I am not willing to cut our budget so deeply that we leave our most vulnerable Missourians defenseless.

These are services that any just and humane society should provide to those less fortunate if at all possible -- such as psychiatric services for our mentally ill, support services for the mentally and developmentally disabled, and transportation for our seniors.

We must and will continue to meet these needs.

That is why I am calling on the General Assembly to authorize the release of $135 million from the state's Rainy Day Fund so we do not put these

Such services are not mandated by law.

But they are mandated by our conscience.

Although our rocky economic climate demands that we make substantial cuts, we are using what resources we have to accomplish a number of very worthwhile goals.

We will deliver the Senior Prescription Drug Program we promised our seniors when we passed legislation last year during special session.

We will protect our most vulnerable children by not reducing the number of child abuse and neglect workers.

We will improve our security against terrorism throughout the state.

We will keep our commitment to our farmers by continuing to support the expansion of ethanol production in Missouri.

Because inmate population growth demands it, we will open the prison in Bonne Terre.

We must ensure that all our prisons are properly staffed to protect the security of our citizens and the safety of our employees.

We will preserve funding for our 115 local health agencies, that are the frontline in the delivery of public health services.

And we will ensure that no child will lose health insurance coverage.

I am also asking the General Assembly to give us the authorization to bond against future tobacco revenues to provide an alternative to fund critical services.

Several states have already done this.

This means we will have the ability to take some of our settlement in one lump sum if we need it, rather than having it spread out over many years.

In the year since I took office, we have made many improvements in the efficiency and management of state government, and many more improvements are in progress.

To intensify this effort, I will ask both state employees and private citizens to join task forces that I will create to improve performance in key areas of state government.

These teams will develop action plans to streamline state government in each vital area before this current fiscal year is over.

I also call on you to give our department directors more flexibility in running their departments.

They have the most complete and up-to-date information about where resources can best be used and need additional flexibility to manage through the core cuts in this budget.

We are already doing more than ever before to make state officials accountable for results.

We need to give them the tools to get the job done.

Greater flexibility will enable them to focus resources on the area of most concern at any time -- whether that is expenses, equipment, or personnel.

I would also like to see the General Assembly take a more proactive approach to reviewing laws.

We need to ensure that both new legislation and existing state laws to fund programs are reviewed regularly.

Rather than allowing programs to live forever, I want these programs to "sunset" unless the legislature and the Governor decide that their value exceeds the cost to taxpayers.

EDUCATION

Even in tough economic times, the key to overcoming the challenges that lie ahead of us is to give our children the good education they deserve.

That's the one advantage no one can take away from you.

My parents believed that, and so do I.

They knew that with an excellent education, my brothers, my sister, and I would be better prepared for any obstacles that came our way and would have the opportunity for a better life.

Just as then, in today's challenging times, we must make it possible for our children's dreams to direct their destiny.

Linda, I was just at your school in Jackson a few weeks ago.

Who knows what other Linda Godwins are out there in our Missouri classrooms?

But they can only fulfill their dreams if we give them a world class education.

Because of Missouri's public education, Linda Godwin was able to reach for the stars.

Lori and I want that for our boys and every boy and girl in Missouri.

We should not, and I will not, shortchange our K-12 public schools.

My top priority this year is to provide the increased funding necessary to meet our commitment to Missouri's public schools.

So I am asking you, the members of the General Assembly, to join me in supporting a legislative funding package.

This package increases revenues paid to the state by riverboats, closes administrative loopholes in our tax system, maximizes lottery revenues, and creates a new means of maximizing our revenues during this fiscal year -- tax amnesty.

But with our state straining to get the most out of every dollar, our state funding for education must be linked to increased accountability.

In August 1992, Missourians voted to require all of the net proceeds of our state lottery to go completely to education.

To assure voters that their wishes are being followed and eliminate any question about it, I will ask our State Auditor to conduct an audit of all lottery and riverboat gaming proceeds annually.

This will include a complete review of all constitutional and statutory requirements that direct where proceeds are legally mandated to go.

This audit must be completed by the last day of December of every year.

Full funding tied to full accountability means full value for our investment.

The best way we can improve our schools is by enhancing accountability standards at the schools that are not performing as well as others, and cutting red tape for those schools that are doing well.

Recently, we unveiled my unprecedented plan.

It requires underperforming schools to map out a comprehensive strategy to correct problem areas.

They must do so to receive continued state funding.

My reforms will ensure that teachers and individual schools in these districts have the professional development tools at their disposal to do the best job.

I want our underperforming schools to target at least one of a range of reforms that have demonstrated that they improve student performance.

One of the following strategies, proven to be successful, has to be implemented in these schools:

- reduction of class size in problem areas to allow teachers more time for individual student attention;

- preschool and full-day kindergarten to enable young students to get off to a good start;
- the hiring of teacher specialists to provide additional attention to those subject areas where improvement is necessary to address poor achievement;
- after-school programs, summer school programs, and one-on-one tutoring to provide underperforming students with the help they need to improve their chances for success;
- and reduction of school size or the establishment of schools within schools or alternative schools to improve the learning environment.

In this way, each school can target a plan to address its own unique problems.

This is not a one-size-fits-all solution.

Local schools know better than we do here in Jefferson City what they need to do to improve their own students' performance.

Our mission will be to set the standards to ensure that local accountability leads to improved performance in these priority schools.

I ask for your help and support in this effort.

Because I believe these reforms are vital for Missouri's future.

Lori and I will be carrying this message to schools and communities all across our state over the next few months.

With these unparalleled reforms, we can make Missouri's public schools among the best in the nation.

We can shape the well-educated, productive work force that will ensure Missouri's future.

SECURITY

After the death and destruction of September 11th, Missourians stepped up to meet the challenge of keeping our citizens safe.

We have refused to allow terrorist threats to disrupt our way of life.

We must now go about our business with new safeguards in place to protect the security of all Missourians.

We want to do all that we can to be prepared for any future acts of terrorism.

I am proud that Missouri is being held up as a model state in the way we responded to the events of September 11th.

We were the first state to appoint a cabinet level Special Advisor on Homeland Security to coordinate our state security efforts.

And I want to congratulate Colonel Tim Daniel for the great job he is doing.

Colonel Daniel, would you please stand so we can acknowledge you for your work.

Another individual who is responsible for the high marks we are receiving after September 11th is our Director of Health and Senior Services, Dr. Maureen Dempsey.

We are the only state to establish an agreement between our Department of Health and Senior Services and the FBI to investigate possible criminal actions where chemical or biological agents are present.

And I want to commend Dr. Dempsey for her fine work.

Dr. Dempsey, would you please stand.

We were among the first states in the nation to appoint a State Security Panel to assess our security needs.

I look forward to reviewing their recommendations in two days, and I will be recommending new legislation this year based on their ideas.

As you know, I have already proposed several initiatives.

We must make it a felony crime to make false terrorist threats.

And we must make those who try to take advantage of Missourians with price gouging during state emergencies pay dearly for this abuse.

And I have made certain that everyone understands that our new state health lab, which is sorely needed, is moving forward as planned and on schedule.

Construction will begin as originally planned in 2003.

After studying our Missouri Security Panel's report thoroughly, I will urge you to support appropriate changes to our criminal codes and public health laws to protect our citizens.

I want Missouri to send a clear message that we will not tolerate assaults on our democracy.

We will not be bullied.

We will not be threatened.

We will not be stopped.

CONCLUSION

We as a nation are still in the process of overcoming the challenges left in the aftermath of September 11th.

But sometimes our challenges go beyond the personal.

As we have seen so dramatically in the months since September 11th, sometimes we are called upon to meet great challenges from without, as well as from within.

One of those people who has been directly involved with those efforts in New York is the Missourian who is with me today.

Dante Glinecki, who works at our State Emergency Management Agency, has a special skill that is very much needed in times of terrible disaster.

At such times everyone, everywhere, wants to offer food, clothing, and other help.

Delivering those goods in a timely and effective way to those who need them is a tremendous challenge.

Without a system to match relief with recipients, the good intentions and donations of millions can quickly go to waste.

From his organizational relief work during the Missouri floods and similar assistance in other state emergency situations, Dante gained a national reputation as one of the leading authorities in this area.

So when disaster struck in New York, they called for him by name.

And, of course, he went.

Dante not only played a key role in helping the New York recovery efforts, but also had the opportunity to witness, in a very personal way, the victory we have experienced as a democracy following September 11th.

He saw that those who sought to bring us down actually lifted us up.

He saw Americans come together after those horrible events to reaffirm the strength of our democracy.

He proudly represented all of us in New York, and we are proud of him.

Please join me in saluting Dante Glinecki.

Dante, would you please stand.

Dante demonstrated the resolve of all Missourians in responding to a dramatic challenge.

In my first year as Governor, I have seen that same resolve in so many Missourians who make a difference for all of us every day.

One of the programs I initiated in our schools after September 11th was a program called Adopt-A-Hero.

I wanted our schoolchildren to be more aware of how many wonderful role models are right there among them.

I called on them to pick someone out of their community who was making a significant difference in other people's lives.

Many schools responded.

Many heroes have been named.

Dante was adopted by Scullin Elementary School in St. Louis.

And there are many more.

There is the fifth-grader who saved his birthday and allowance money to buy a wheelchair for a 7-year-old boy from Turkey.

There is the retired teacher who returned to the classroom full-time when the teacher of a fourth-grade class was shot and killed at a shopping mall.

There are the firefighter and the police officer who give so much of their time working to improve the safety of their local schools.

Several of these heroes are with us today along with some of the students who adopted them.

I'd like them to stand up in the back gallery so we can give them a proper welcome.

All across this great state, Missourians are working together to make a difference...overcoming challenges every day.

Today, you have met many Missouri heroes who are leading by example.

As we strive to meet the challenges of the coming year, we in this chamber also must lead by example.

We have demonstrated we can.

We proved it just last year with our women's health initiative and senior prescription drug relief bill, when we put politics aside to do what is right for Missouri.

Now, in this difficult budget year, working together is more important than ever.

Many of you are sitting in these chambers for your last session -- 73 in the House and 12 in the Senate.

On behalf of Missourians everywhere, I want to thank you for your dedicated public service.

But I also call on you to make these final days of service truly matter.

Let this session be your finest hour.

There is much we can accomplish.

I've lived through hard times.

And many of you and your families have lived through hard times, too.

But we never let it get the best of us.

I didn't then, and I'm not about to now.

Certainly, the challenges we are facing today will test us.

But by overcoming them, we become stronger.

We can make Missouri better by working smarter and harder.

Let's roll up our sleeves and get started.

Let's meet the challenges head on.

Let's get the job done.

And let's do it in a way that will make Missourians proud.

Thank you.

(b) To restore property only upon payment of reward or other compensation; or

(c) To use or dispose of property in a manner that makes recovery of the property by the owner unlikely;

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 3

Amend Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bills Nos. 662 and 704, Page 5, Section 252.235, Line 17, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

"367.031. 1. At the time of making any secured personal credit loan, the lender shall execute and deliver to the borrower a receipt for and describing the tangible personal property subjected to the security interest to secure the payment of the loan. The receipt shall contain the following:

- (1) The name and address of the pawnshop;
- (2) The name and address of the pledgor, the pledgor's description, and the driver's license number, military identification number, identification certificate number, or other official number capable of identifying the pledgor;
- (3) The date of the transaction;
- (4) An identification and description of the pledged goods, including serial numbers if reasonably available;
- (5) The amount of cash advanced or credit extended to the pledgor;
- (6) The amount of the pawn service charge;
- (7) The total amount which must be paid to redeem the pledged goods on the maturity date;
- (8) The maturity date of the pawn transaction; and
- (9) A statement to the effect that the pledgor is not obligated to redeem the pledged goods, and that the pledged goods may be forfeited to the pawnbroker sixty days after the specified maturity date.

2. The pawnbroker may be required, in accordance with local ordinances, to furnish [local] appropriate law enforcement authorities with copies of information contained in subdivisions (1) to (4) of subsection 1 of this section and information contained in subdivision (6) of subsection 4 of section 367.040. The pawnbroker may satisfy such requirements by transmitting such information electronically to a database in accordance with this subsection.

(1) As used in this subsection, the following terms mean:

(a) "Database", a computer database established and maintained by a third party engaged in the business of establishing and maintaining one or more databases;

(b) "Reportable data", the information required to be recorded by pawnbrokers for pawn transactions pursuant to subdivisions (1) to (4) of subsection 1 of this section and the information required to be recorded by pawnbrokers for purchase transactions pursuant to subdivision (6) of subsection 4 of section 367.040;

(c) "Reporting pawnbroker", a pawnbroker who chooses to transmit reportable data electronically to the database;

(d) "Search", the accessing of a single database record;

(e) "User", law enforcement personnel specifically authorized to access the database.

(2) The database shall provide appropriate law enforcement officials with useful information to facilitate the investigation of alleged property crimes while protecting the privacy rights of pawnbrokers and pawnshop customers with regard to their transactions.

(3) The database shall contain the pawn and purchase transaction information recorded by reporting pawnbrokers pursuant to this section and section 367.040 and shall be updated daily. The database shall also contain such security features and protections as may be necessary to ensure that the reportable data maintained in the database can only be accessed by permitted users in accordance with the provisions of this subsection.

(4) The third party's charge for the database shall be based on the number of authorized database users. Law enforcement agencies shall be charged directly for access to the database, and the charge shall be reasonable in relation to the costs of the third party in establishing and maintaining the database. No reporting pawnbroker or customer of a reporting pawnbroker shall be charged any costs for the creation or utilization of the database.

(5) (a) The information in the database shall only be accessible through the Internet to appropriate users who have provided a secure identification or access code to the database but shall allow such users to access database information from any jurisdiction transmitting such information to that database. Such users shall provide the database with a case number of a criminal action for which the identity of the pawn or purchase transaction customer is needed and a representation that the information is connected to the investigation of a crime involving goods delivered by that customer in that transaction. The database shall record, for each search, the identity of the user, the pawn or purchase transaction involved in the search, and the identity of any customer accessed through the search. Each search record shall be made available to other users regardless of their jurisdiction. The database shall enable reporting pawnbrokers to transmit to the database through the Internet reportable data for each pawn and purchase transaction.

(b) Any person who gains access to information in the database through fraud or false pretenses shall be guilty of a class C felony.

(7) A reporting pawnbroker, and any pawnbroker licensed after August 28, 2002, shall meet the following requirements:

(a) Provide all reportable data to appropriate users by transmitting it through the Internet to the database;

(b) Transmit all reportable data for one business day to the database prior to the end of the following business day;

(c) Make available for on-site inspection to any appropriate law enforcement official, upon request, paper copies of any pawn or purchase transaction documents.

(8) If a reporting pawnbroker or user discovers any error in the reportable data, notice of such error shall be given to the database, which shall have a period of at least thirty but no more than sixty days in which to correct the error. Any reporting pawnbroker experiencing a computer malfunction preventing the transmission of reportable data or receipt of search requests shall be allowed a period of at least thirty but no more than sixty days to repair such malfunction, and during such period such pawnbroker shall not be deemed to be in violation of this subsection if good faith efforts are made to correct the malfunction. During the periods specified in this subdivision, the reporting pawnbroker and user shall arrange an alternative method or methods by which the reportable data shall be made available.

(10) No reporting pawnbroker shall be obligated to incur any cost, other than Internet service costs, in preparing, converting, or delivering its reportable data to the database.

3. If the pawn ticket is lost, destroyed, or stolen, the pledgor may so notify the pawnbroker in writing, and receipt of such notice shall invalidate such pawn ticket, if the pledged goods have not previously been redeemed. Before delivering the pledged goods or issuing a new pawn ticket, the pawnbroker shall require the pledgor to make a written affidavit of the loss, destruction or theft of the ticket. The pawnbroker shall record on the written statement the identifying information required, the date the statement is given, and the number of the pawn ticket lost, destroyed, or stolen. The affidavit shall be signed by a notary public appointed by the secretary of state pursuant to section 486.205, RSMo, to perform notarial acts in this state."; and

Further amend said bill, page 8, Section 367.044, line 91, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

"367.055. 1. Upon request of a law enforcement officer to inspect property that is described in information furnished by the pawnbroker pursuant to subdivisions (1) to (4) of subsection 1 of section 367.031, the law enforcement officer shall be entitled to inspect the property described, without prior notice or the necessity of obtaining a search warrant during regular business hours in a manner so as to minimize interference with or delay to the pawnbroker's business operation. When a law enforcement officer has probable cause to believe that goods or property in the possession of a pawnbroker are misappropriated, the officer may place a hold order on the property. The hold order shall contain the following:

- (1) The name of the pawnbroker;
- (2) The name and mailing address of the pawnshop where the property is held;
- (3) The name, title and identification number of the law enforcement officer placing the hold order;

- (5) A complete description of the property to be held including model and serial numbers;
- (6) The expiration date of the holding period.

The hold order shall be signed and dated by the issuing officer and signed and dated by the pawnbroker or the pawnbroker's designee as evidence of the hold order's issuance by the officer, receipt by the pawnbroker and the beginning of the initial holding period. The officer issuing the hold order shall provide an executed copy of the hold order to the pawnbroker for the pawnbroker's record-keeping purposes at no cost to the pawnbroker.

2. Upon receiving the hold order, and subject to the provisions of section 367.047, the pawnbroker shall retain physical possession of the property subject to the order in a secured area. The initial holding period of the hold order shall not exceed two months, except that the hold order may be extended for up to two successive one-month holding periods upon written notification prior to the expiration of the immediately preceding holding period. A hold order may be released prior to the expiration of any holding period or extension thereof by written release from the agency placing the initial hold order. The initial hold order shall be deemed expired upon the expiration date if the holding period is not extended pursuant to this subsection.

3. Upon the expiration of the initial holding period or any extension thereof, the pawnbroker shall deliver written notice to the law enforcement officer issuing the hold order that such order has expired and that title to the property subject to the hold order will vest in the pawnbroker in ten business days. Ownership shall only vest in the pawnbroker upon the expiration of the ten-day waiting period subject to any restriction contained in the pawn contract and subject to the provisions of sections 367.044 to 367.053.

4. In addition to the penalty provisions contained in section 367.050, gross negligence or willful noncompliance with the provisions of this section by a pawnbroker shall be cause for the licensing authority to suspend or revoke the pawnbroker's license. Any imposed suspensions or revocation provided for by this subsection may be appealed by the pawnbroker to the licensing authority or to a court of competent jurisdiction.

5. A county or municipality may enact orders or ordinances to license or regulate the operations of pawnbrokers which are consistent with and not more restrictive than the provisions of sections [367.044] 367.011 to 367.055, except that a county or municipality may regulate the number of pawn shop licensees.

6. All records and information that relate to a pawnbroker's pawn, purchase or trade transactions and that are delivered to or otherwise obtained by an appropriate law enforcement officer pursuant to sections 367.031 and 367.040 are confidential and may be used only by such appropriate law enforcement officer and only for the following official law enforcement purposes:

(1) The investigation of a crime specifically involving the item of property delivered to the pawnbroker in a pawn, purchase or trade transaction;

(2) The investigation of a pawnbroker's possible specific violation of the record-keeping or reporting requirements of sections 367.031 and 367.040, but only when the appropriate law enforcement officer, based on a review of the records and the information received, has probable cause to believe that such a violation occurred; and

(3) The notification of property crime victims of where property that has been reported misappropriated can be located."; and Gracious Lord, You know our inmost being. You have given us Your steady hand to perform the work we are required to do here. Forgive us for those times we lose our trust in You and try to do things on our own. Help us in our walk of faith to see You more clearly and follow Your footsteps more dearly. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

Amend Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 660, Page 2, Section 577.017, Line 37, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"577.041. 1. If a person under arrest, or who has been stopped pursuant to subdivision (2) or (3) of subsection 1 of section 577.020, refuses upon the request of the officer to submit to any test allowed pursuant to section 577.020, then none shall be given and evidence of the refusal shall be admissible in a proceeding pursuant to section 565.024 or 565.060, RSMo, or section 577.010 or 577.012. The request of the officer shall include the reasons of the officer for requesting the person to submit to a test and also shall inform the person that evidence of refusal to take the test may be used against such person and that the person's license shall be immediately revoked upon refusal to take the test. The request of the officer shall also include a notification to the person that:

- (1) If the person requests to speak to an attorney the person shall have twenty minutes to do so;
- (2) The twenty-minute period shall begin immediately upon the completion of the officer's request and notification, notwithstanding the timing of the person's request to speak to an attorney; and
- (3) If the person requests to speak to an attorney and the person refuses to submit to the test after the completion of the twenty-minute period, it shall be deemed a refusal.

If a person when requested to submit to any test allowed pursuant to section 577.020 thereafter requests to speak to an attorney, the person shall be granted twenty minutes, beginning immediately upon completion of the officer's request and notification pursuant to this subsection, in which to attempt to contact an attorney. If the person requests to speak to an attorney prior to the time the officer first gives the request and notification pursuant to this subsection, the officer shall give the person the request and notification pursuant to this subsection and the person shall then be granted twenty minutes to speak to an attorney. If upon the completion of the twenty-minute period the person continues to refuse to submit to any test, it shall be deemed a refusal. In this event, the officer shall, on behalf of the director of revenue, serve the notice of license revocation personally upon the person and shall take possession of any license to operate a motor vehicle issued by this state which is held by that person. The officer shall issue a temporary permit, on behalf of the director of revenue, which is valid for fifteen days and shall also give the person a notice of such person's right to file a petition for review to contest the license revocation.

2. The officer shall make a sworn report to the director of revenue, which shall include the following:

(1) That the officer has:

- (a) Reasonable grounds to believe that the arrested person was driving a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated or drugged condition; or
- (b) Reasonable grounds to believe that the person stopped, being under the age of twenty-one years, was driving a motor vehicle with a blood alcohol content of two-hundredths of one percent or more by weight; or
- (c) Reasonable grounds to believe that the person stopped, being under the age of twenty-one years, was committing a violation of the traffic laws of the state, or political subdivision of the state, and such officer has reasonable grounds to believe, after making such stop, that the person had a blood alcohol content of two-hundredths of one percent or greater;

(2) That the person refused to submit to a chemical test;

(3) Whether the officer secured the license to operate a motor vehicle of the person;

(4) Whether the officer issued a fifteen-day temporary permit;

(5) Copies of the notice of revocation, the fifteen-day temporary permit and the notice of the right to file a petition for review, which notices and permit may be combined in one document; and

(6) Any license to operate a motor vehicle which the officer has taken into possession.

3. Upon receipt of the officer's report, the director shall revoke the license of the person refusing to take the test for a period of one year; or if the person is a nonresident, such person's operating permit or privilege shall be revoked for one year; or if the person is a resident without a license or permit to operate a motor vehicle in this state, an order shall be issued denying the person the issuance of a license or permit for a period of one year.

4. If a person's license has been revoked because of the person's refusal to submit to a chemical test, such person may petition for a hearing before a circuit or associate circuit court in the county in which the arrest or stop occurred. The person may request such court to issue an order staying the revocation until such time as the petition for review can be heard. If the court, in its discretion, grants such stay, it shall enter the order upon a form prescribed by the director of revenue and shall send a copy of such order to the director. Such order shall serve as proof of the privilege to operate a motor vehicle in this state and the director shall maintain possession of the person's license to operate a motor vehicle until termination of any revocation pursuant to this section. Upon the person's request the clerk of the court shall notify the prosecuting attorney of the county and the prosecutor shall appear at the hearing on behalf of the director of revenue. At the hearing the court shall determine only:

(1) Whether or not the person was arrested or stopped;

(2) Whether or not the officer had:

(a) Reasonable grounds to believe that the person was driving a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated or drugged condition; or

(b) Reasonable grounds to believe that the person stopped, being under the age of twenty-one years, was driving a motor vehicle with a blood alcohol content of two-hundredths of one percent or more by weight; or

(c) Reasonable grounds to believe that the person stopped, being under the age of twenty-one years, was committing a violation of the traffic laws of the state, or political subdivision of the state, and such officer had reasonable grounds to believe, after making such stop, that the person had a blood alcohol content of two-hundredths of one percent or greater; and

(3) Whether or not the person refused to submit to the test.

5. If the court determines any issue not to be in the affirmative, the court shall order the director to reinstate the license or permit to drive.

6. Requests for review as provided in this section shall go to the head of the docket of the court wherein filed.

7. No person who has had a license to operate a motor vehicle suspended or revoked pursuant to the provisions of this section shall have that license reinstated until such person has participated in and successfully completed a substance abuse traffic offender program defined in section 577.001, or a program determined to be comparable by the department or the court. Assignment recommendations, based upon the needs assessment as described in subdivision (21) of section 302.010, RSMo, shall be delivered in writing to the person with written notice that the person is entitled to have such assignment recommendations reviewed by the court if the person objects to the recommendations. The person may file a motion in the associate division of the circuit court, on a printed form provided by the state courts administrator, to have the court hear and determine such motion pursuant to the provisions of chapter 517, RSMo. The motion shall name the person or entity making the needs assessment as the respondent and a copy of the motion shall be served upon the respondent in any manner allowed by law. Upon hearing the motion, the court may modify or waive any assignment recommendation that the court determines to be unwarranted based upon a review of the needs assessment, the person's driving record, the circumstances surrounding the offense, and the likelihood of the person committing a like offense in the future, except that the court may modify but may not waive the assignment to an education or rehabilitation program of a person determined to be a prior or persistent offender as defined in section 577.023, RSMo, or of a person determined to have operated a motor vehicle with fifteen-hundredths of one percent or more by weight in such person's blood. Compliance with the court determination of the motion shall satisfy the provisions of this section for the purpose of reinstating such person's license to operate a motor vehicle. The respondent's personal appearance at any hearing conducted pursuant to this subsection shall not be necessary unless directed by the court.

8. The fees for the substance abuse traffic offender program, or a portion thereof to be determined by the division of alcohol and drug abuse of the department of mental health, shall be paid by the person enrolled in the program. Any person who is enrolled in the program shall pay, in addition to any fee charged for the program, a supplemental fee of sixty dollars. The administrator of the program shall remit to the division of alcohol and drug abuse of the department of mental health the supplemental fee for all persons enrolled in the program, less two percent for administrative costs. The supplemental fees received by the department of mental health pursuant to this section shall be deposited in the mental health earnings fund which is created in section 630.053, RSMo."; and

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

So please guide us this week with our doubts knowing that all things are possible with Your help. Amen.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senators Cauthorn, Gross, Kinder, House, Foster, Klindt and Stoll offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 44

WHEREAS, the state of Missouri borders 488 miles of the Mississippi River; and

WHEREAS, many of Missouri's locks and dams are more than 60 years old and only 600 feet long, making them unable to accommodate modern barge tows of 1,200 feet long, nearly tripling locking times and causing lengthy delays and ultimately increasing shipping costs; and

WHEREAS, the use of 1,200-foot locks has been proven nationwide as the best method of improving efficiency, reducing congestion and modernizing the inland waterways; and

WHEREAS, the construction of the lock and dam system has spurred economic growth and a higher standard of living in the Mississippi and Illinois' river basin, and today supplies more than 300 million tons of the nation's cargo, supporting more than 400,000 jobs, including 90,000 in manufacturing; and

WHEREAS, more than 60 percent of American agricultural exports including corn, wheat, and soybeans, are shipped down the Mississippi and Illinois rivers on the way to foreign markets; and

WHEREAS, Missouri farmers, producers, and consumers rely on efficient transportation to remain competitive in a global economy, and efficiencies in river transport offset higher production costs compared to those incurred by foreign competitors; and

WHEREAS, the Upper Mississippi and Illinois lock and dam system saves our nation more than $1.5 billion in higher transportation costs each year, and failing to construct 1,200-foot locks will cause farmers to use more expensive alternative modes of transportation, including trucks and trains; and

WHEREAS, according to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, congestion along the Upper Mississippi and Illinois rivers is costing Missouri and other producers and consumers in the basin $98 million per year in higher transportation costs; and

WHEREAS, river transportation is the most environmentally friendly form of transporting goods and commodities, creating almost no noise pollution and emitting 35 to 60 percent fewer pollutants than either trucks or trains, according to the U.S. EPA; and

WHEREAS, moving away from river transport would add millions of trucks and rail cars to our nation's infrastructure, adding air pollution, traffic congestion, and greater wear and tear on highways; and

WHEREAS, backwater lakes created by the lock and dam system provide breeding grounds for migratory waterfowl and fish; and

WHEREAS, the lakes and 500 miles of wildlife refuge also support a $1 billion-a-year recreational industry, including hunting, fishing, and tourism jobs; and

WHEREAS, upgrading the system of locks and dams on the Upper Mississippi and Illinois rivers will provide 3,000 high-paying construction and related jobs over a 15-20 year period with health benefits, which will benefit, not only those directly employed, but the local health care systems and economies of the communities in which these individuals live and work; and

WHEREAS, in 1999 the state of Missouri shipped 18.8 million tons of commodities including grain, coal, chemicals, aggregates, and other products; and

TO THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI:

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the State of Missouri, including the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974 and sections 26.500 through 26.540, RSMo, I hereby transmit Reorganization Plan No. 1 of 2002, by Executive Order 02-03, providing for the re-establishment of the Motor Carrier Services Unit in the Department of Transportation.

Respectfully submitted,

BOB HOLDEN

Governor

EXECUTIVE ORDER

WHEREAS, the Department of Transportation's Motor Carrier Services Unit is currently the state agency designated to issue permits to commercial motor vehicles for oversize and overweight vehicles, conduct the house-moving permit system, and issue bridge-stress studies and administer other road-safety programs for the citizens of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Economic Development, Division of Motor Carrier and Railroad Safety currently administers the Federal Single State Registration Program (SSRS) for commercial motor vehicles, the railroad and light rail safety program, the regulation of household goods and passenger transportation, and other safety, insurance and training programs in relation to commercial motor vehicles for the citizens of Missouri, and

WHEREAS, the Department of Revenue, Highway Reciprocity Commission provides commercial motor vehicle apportioned license plates through the International Registration Plan (IRP), cab cards, and International Fuel Tax (IFTA) licenses, and temporary trip permits to commercial motor vehicles and administers the provision of such services to its clients; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Natural Resources issues hazardous waste transporter licenses and waste tire hauling permits to commercial motor vehicles for the hauling of such material for the benefit of Missouri citizens; and

WHEREAS, these agencies have worked closely together in the past; and

WHEREAS, consolidation of the commercial motor vehicle licensing and permit programs currently administered by the Division of Motor Carrier and Railroad Safety, the Highway Reciprocity Commission, the Department of Transportation's Motor Carrier Services Unit, and the Department of Natural Resources' hazardous waste transporter licensing and waste tire permit functions in one state agency will benefit the citizens of the state by promoting efficiency and eliminating duplication of activities and administrative costs; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Transportation currently compiles statistical information which is essential to the efficient operation of the transportation system; and

WHEREAS, combining the research and analysis functions of the Department of Transportation with other commercial motor vehicle licensing and permitting programs will result in a single point of contact for the motor carrier industry and a better consolidation of the functions relating to commercial motor vehicle licensing, permitting, regulation, safety and travel and would benefit the citizens of the state by further promoting safer and more efficient use of our highways by commercial motor vehicles.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, BOB HOLDEN, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the constitution and laws of the state of Missouri, do hereby re-establish the Motor Carrier Services Unit within the Department of Transportation. Said unit shall be designated to receive highway funds, shall administer programs under the federally mandated IRP, IFTA and SSRS agreements, and shall otherwise coordinate and administer the commercial motor vehicle licensing and permitting activities in order to improve transportation safety and customer satisfaction for the citizens of the state of Missouri.

Division of Motor Carrier and Railroad Safety within the Department of Economic Development, and 2. Highway Reciprocity Commission within the Department of Revenue are hereby transferred by a Type I transfer to the Division of Motor Carrier Services within the Department of Transportation. The authority of the Administrative Law Judge shall be as currently provided in statute.

All the authority, powers, permits, licenses, credentials, functions, records, contracts, and matters pending and other pertinent vestiges of issuing hazardous waste transporter licenses and waste tire hauling permits within the Department of Natural Resources are also hereby transferred by a Type I transfer to the Motor Carrier Services Unit within the Department of Transportation. The personnel, receipts and property of this unit will remain at the Department of Natural Resources. The Department of Natural Resources shall continue to exist and perform its functions and duties related to the preservation of the state's land and water resources with the exception of issuing hazardous waste transporter licenses and waste tire hauling permits, for which it shall contract with the Department of Transportation.

The Motor Carrier Services Unit shall maintain a working relationship with the Department of Natural Resources for future improvements and upgrades to the hazardous waste transporter licensing and waste tire hauling permitting functions. The Division of Motor Carrier and Railroad Safety within the Department of Economic Development and the Highway Reciprocity Commission within the Department of Revenue are abrogated.

There shall be coordination between the training, licensing, permitting, and audit programs performed by the Department of Revenue, the Department of Natural Resources and the Motor Carrier Services Unit. There shall also be coordination between the motor vehicle insurance functions of the Department of Revenue and the Motor Carrier Services Unit.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed this Great Seal of the State of Missouri, in the City of Jefferson on this 7th day of February, 2002.

"Rule 10. The president pro tem shall be parliamentarian of the senate and may decide all points of order, and in his absence such points of order may be decided by the chairman of the Committee on Judiciary, except in either case, the point of order may be referred by the then acting parliamentarian, to the Committee on Parliamentary Procedure for consideration and determination. A point of order that is taken under advisement shall be ruled upon within one legislative day. All rulings on points of order shall be subject to an appeal to the senate and all questions and points of order shall be noted by the secretary with the decision thereon. SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 1027

WHEREAS, it is with special pleasure that the members of the Missouri Senate pause to recognize the meritorious achievements of an outstanding Missouri citizen who has distinguished himself as a leader of his community; and

WHEREAS, the Honorable John Wild, Mayor of Wildwood, is to be commended for the important role he plays as Chief Executive Officer of the Missouri Higher Education Loan Authority, an agency established by the state in 1982 to handle government loans of Missouri students; and

WHEREAS, reflecting the cost of education, the Missouri Higher Education Loan Authority now employs 200 individuals, boasts assets of $2.5 billion, and buys some $500 million in loans each year; and

WHEREAS, throughout its rich history, the Missouri Higher Education Loan Authority has helped well over half a million young people with student loans that have enabled them to finance a higher education; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Higher Education Loan Authority has been honored by the Chesterfield Chamber of Commerce as the 2001 Business of the Year for its numerous accomplishments, unwavering faith in the levee district, and the contribution of its brand new signature building in the Chesterfield Valley:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-first General Assembly, unanimously join in extending our most hearty and robust congratulations to John Wild as he proudly celebrates the phenomenal success of the Missouri Higher Educational Loan Authority, and in wishing him only the very best as he continues to maintain only the highest standards of excellence in all he does; and

Senator Gross offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 45

WHEREAS, our Country was founded on the precepts of freedom, liberty, diversity and the right of the people to acknowledge God according to the dictates of conscience; and

WHEREAS, from the very beginning of our nation to the founding of our first national government in 1774, and from the Continental Congress to the Constitutional Convention and the years after the establishment of our Constitution, voluntary prayer has been a unifying and consoling force; and

WHEREAS, statements of belief in a Supreme Power and the virtue of seeking guidance, strength and protection from that power are prevalent throughout our national history and appear in our national documents as well as in virtually every state constitution; and

WHEREAS, the framers of the Constitution, recognizing free exercise of religion as an inalienable right, secured its protection with the First Amendment of the Constitution of the United States; and

WHEREAS, every session of Congress, and of many other legislative and public bodies across the nation, begins with the comfort and encouragement of voluntary prayer; and

WHEREAS, our government has a constitutional obligation to protect religious freedom; and

WHEREAS, one of the purposes of education is to prepare students to be good citizens; and

WHEREAS, instilling an appreciation and respect not only for the beliefs and traditions of others but also for the longstanding beliefs and traditions of the nation forms a part of good citizenship; and

WHEREAS, voluntary student prayer formed a part of American public schools from their origination in 1642 for over three hundred years afterward until the United States Supreme Court in a 1962 ruling it said was "without precedent", struck down what it described as "voluntary, nondenominational school prayer"; and

WHEREAS, in 1985 the Supreme Court even struck down voluntary, silent student prayers; and

WHEREAS, an increasing number of recent religion-hostile court decisions now prohibit the overwhelming majority of Americans from participating in the very same religious expressions their parents, grandparents, and generations before them enjoyed; and

WHEREAS, an increasing and ever-widening hostility against voluntary prayer and public religious speech has produced a public atmosphere of fear, intimidation, and confusion about school prayer and religious speech; and

WHEREAS, an overwhelming majority of Americans now favor giving specific protections to these traditional religious expressions; and

WHEREAS, House Joint Resolution No. 81 has been offered in the United States House of Representatives proposing a constitutional amendment for ratification by the people:

"To secure the people's right to acknowledge God according to the dictates of conscience:

'Neither the United States nor any State shall establish any official religion, but the people's right to pray and to recognize their religious beliefs, heritage, and traditions on public property, including schools, shall not be infringed.

"The United States and the States shall not compose school prayers, nor require any person to join in prayer or other religious activity.":

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-first General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, urges the United States Congress to pass House Joint Resolution No. 81; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, the President of the United States Senate, and the members of the Missouri Congressional Delegation in order that they may be apprised of the sense of this matter.

If, based on such motion, the court finds for the municipal utility, the court shall either order the record closed or order such portion of the record that should be closed to be redacted from any record made available pursuant to this subsection.

(b) Any person may bring an action pursuant to this section in the circuit court having jurisdiction to authorize disclosure of the information requested, which would otherwise be closed pursuant to this section. The court may order that all or part of the information requested be released to the person bringing the action. In making the determination as to whether the requested information shall be disclosed, the court shall consider whether the benefit to the person bringing the action or to the public outweighs any harm to the public or to the municipal utility in regard to the need to effectively operate the municipal utility. The records in question may be examined by the court in camera. The court may find that the party seeking disclosure shall bear the reasonable and necessary costs and attorney fees of both parties, unless the court finds that the decision of the municipal utility not to open its records was substantially unjustified under all relevant circumstances, and in that event, the court may assess such reasonable and necessary costs and attorney's fees to the municipal utility.

(c) If the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the municipal utility has purposely violated this section, the records custodian of the municipal utility, or the municipal utility shall be subject to a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed five hundred dollars and the court shall order payment by such individual or municipal utility of all costs and attorney fees as provided by section 610.027, RSMo".

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

TWENTY-FIRST DAY--WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 2002

President Maxwell in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"The Lord rises to argue his case; he stands to judge the people." (Isaiah 3:13)

Ruler and Judge of the Universe, we call on You this day the Christian world observes as Ash Wednesday. It is a good day for all humankind to look at their lives and see that they need Your help along the dangerous paths that can lead us to irreconcilable disagreements and wrongs to our brothers and sisters. So help us remember that Your word prescribes a way to handle differences that can bring peace and accord among us as Your spirit leads us through this Lenten time of self reflection and hope to do more good with our lives. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 46

WHEREAS, H.R. 3113, the TANF Reauthorization Act of 2001, was introduced in the United States House of Representatives on October 12, 2001, which would reform the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program to make it clear that the program's principal focus is the long-term reduction of poverty rather than a short-term immediate reduction in the welfare rolls; and

WHEREAS, H.R. 3113 would also make it clear that postsecondary education is a work activity under the TANF program by providing access to postsecondary education for TANF recipients as a permissible work activity; and

WHEREAS, in the United States, education has always been a route to economic self-sufficiency and social mobility; and

WHEREAS, in the twenty-first century, at least one year of postsecondary education will become increasingly more essential for all workers; and

WHEREAS, TANF does not currently extend our nation's commitment to educational opportunity to persons living in poverty with their children, but who are ready, willing, and able to benefit from postsecondary education; and

WHEREAS, data from several studies has demonstrated that the additional earning capacity that a postsecondary education provides can make the difference between economic self-sufficiency and continued poverty for many TANF recipients; and

WHEREAS, among families headed by African American, Latino, and Caucasian women, the poverty rate declines from fifty-one, forty-one, and twenty-two percent to twenty-one, eighteen and one-half, and thirteen percent, respectively, with at least one year of postsecondary education; and

WHEREAS, further data has found that postsecondary education not only increases incomes, it also improves self-esteem, increases children's education ambitions, including aspiring to enter postsecondary education themselves, and has a dramatic impact on quality of life; and

WHEREAS, now more than ever TANF recipients need postsecondary education to obtain the knowledge and skills required to compete for jobs and enable them to lift themselves and their children out of poverty in the long-term; and

WHEREAS, without some postsecondary education, most women who leave welfare for employment will earn wages that place them far below the federal poverty level, even after five years of employment; and

WHEREAS, allowing TANF recipients to attend postsecondary education, even for a short time, will improve their earning potential significantly, with the average person who attends a community college, even without graduating, earning approximately ten percent more than those persons who do not attend postsecondary education at all; and

WHEREAS, women who receive TANF assistance clearly appreciate the importance and role of postsecondary education in moving them out of poverty to long-term economic self-sufficiency; and

WHEREAS, as of November 1999, at least nineteen states had considered or enacted strategies to support recipient's efforts to achieve long-term economic self-sufficiency through the pursuit of postsecondary education:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Senate of the Ninety-first General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, support H.R. 3113, the TANF Reauthorization Act of 2001; and

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

TWENTY-THIRD DAY--MONDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 2002

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Senator Rohrbach in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"The nation has not lived in vain which has given the world Washington and Lincoln, the best great men and the greatest good men whom history can show." (Henry Cabot Lodge, February 12, 1909)

Gracious God, as a nation we honor the memory of our great presidents who led us during difficult times and by their sense of integrity, showed us how people of greatness led their fellow citizens. May all who are here, all who are called to lead through this difficult time, do so with that same sense of integrity and willingness to let our true colors be seen by all as we make difficult decisions affecting the lives of our most vulnerable citizens. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

WHEREAS, in fiscal year 2001, the marketing and promotion activities of the Division of Tourism used a budget of $16 million to increase travel in Missouri and revenues to state and local destinations; and

WHEREAS, in conjunction and cooperation with the convention and visitors bureaus and destination markets throughout Missouri, generated tourism sales tax growth over the past 9 years amounting to $586.3 million, of which amount, $484.8 million went into General Revenue to fund critical state services to our local governments, our elderly and our children; and

If a creditor requires a debtor to make any payment for credit life insurance or credit accident and sickness insurance and an individual policy or group certificate of insurance is not issued, the creditor shall immediately give written notice to the debtor and shall promptly make an appropriate credit to the account.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

TWENTY-SEVENTH DAY--MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 2002

Senator Klarich in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"I do not see why there is not greater enthusiasm for planning, except perhaps for this reason: that the word planning does not signify anything very spectacular about it and it takes a good many years to see results from it." (Franklin D. Roosevelt, April 24, 1934)

Gracious Lord, let us be mindful and thankful for the time You have given us to plan and make good use of this week here which we begin anew today. Help us to organize our activities so all the really important things, from the smallest details to the people we encounter each day, are not overlooked and we fully utilize our time for the greatest good. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 6

Amend Senate Bill No. 895, Page 1, Section A, Line 7, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

"30.260. 1. The state treasurer shall prepare, maintain, and adhere to a written investment policy which shall include an asset allocation plan which limits the total amount of state moneys which may be invested in any particular investment authorized by section 15, article IV of the Missouri Constitution. The state treasurer shall present a copy of such policy to the governor, commissioner of administration, state auditor, and general assembly at the commencement of each regular session of the general assembly or at any time the written investment policy is amended.

2. The state treasurer shall determine by the exercise of the treasurer's best judgment the amount of state moneys that are not needed for current operating expenses of the state government, and shall keep on demand deposit in banking institutions in this state selected by the treasurer and approved by the governor and state auditor the amount of state moneys which the treasurer has so determined are needed for current operating expenses of the state government and disburse the same as authorized by law.

3. Within the parameters of the state treasurer's written investment policy, the state treasurer shall place the state moneys which the treasurer has determined are not needed for current operations of the state government on time deposit drawing interest in banking institutions in this state selected by the treasurer and approved by the governor and the state auditor, or place them outright or, if applicable, by repurchase agreement in obligations described in section 15, article IV, Constitution of Missouri, as the treasurer in the exercise of the treasurer's best judgment determines to be in the best overall interest of the people of the state of Missouri, giving due consideration to:

(1) The preservation of such state moneys;

(2) The liquidity needs of the state;

(3) The comparative yield to be derived therefrom;

(4) The effect upon the economy and welfare of the people of Missouri of the removal or withholding from banking institutions in the state of all or some such state moneys and investing same in obligations authorized in section 15, article IV of the Missouri Constitution; and

(5) All other factors which to the treasurer as a prudent state treasurer seem to be relevant to the general public welfare in the light of the circumstances at the time prevailing. The state treasurer may also place state moneys which are determined not needed for current operations of the state government in linked deposits as provided in sections 30.750 to 30.767.

4. Except for state moneys deposited in linked deposits as provided in sections 30.750 to 30.767, the rate of interest payable by all banking institutions on time deposits of state moneys shall be at least the same as the average rate paid during the week next preceding the week in which the deposit was made for United States of America treasury securities maturing and becoming payable closest to the time of termination of the deposit, as determined by the state treasurer, adjusted to the nearest one-tenth of a percent; except that the rate shall never exceed the maximum rate of interest which by federal law or regulation a bank which is a member of the Federal Reserve System may from time to time pay on a time deposit of the same size and maturity.

5. Within the parameters of the state treasurer's written investment policy, the state treasurer may subscribe for or purchase outright, or [by] through repurchase agreement, local government investment pool or money market mutual fund as defined and regulated in Rule 2a-7 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, make investments of the character described in subsection 3 of this section which the treasurer, in the exercise of the treasurer's best judgment, believes to be the best for investment of state moneys at the time and in payment therefor may withdraw moneys from any bank account, demand or time, maintained by the treasurer without having any supporting warrant of the commissioner of administration. The state treasurer may bid on subscriptions for such obligations in accordance with the treasurer's best judgment. The state treasurer shall provide for the safekeeping of all such obligations so acquired in the same manner that securities pledged to secure the repayment of state moneys deposited in banking institutions are kept by the treasurer pursuant to law. The state treasurer may hold any such obligation so acquired by the treasurer until its maturity or prior thereto may sell the same outright or by reverse repurchase agreement provided the state's security interest in the underlying security is perfected or temporarily exchange such obligation for cash or other authorized securities of at least equal market value with no maturity more than one year beyond the maturity of any of the traded obligations, for a negotiated fee as the treasurer, in the exercise of the treasurer's best judgment, deems necessary or advisable for the best interest of the people of the state of Missouri in the light of the circumstances at the time prevailing. The state treasurer may pay all costs and expenses reasonably incurred by the treasurer in connection with the subscription, purchase, sale, collection, safekeeping, or delivery of all such obligations at any time acquired by the treasurer.

6. As used in this chapter, except as more particularly specified in section 30.270, obligations of the United States shall include securities of the United States Treasury, and United States agencies or instrumentalities as described in section 15, article IV, Constitution of Missouri. The word "temporarily" as used in this section shall mean no more than six months."; and

Further amend said bill, page 3, Section 30.270, Line 70 by inserting immediately after said line the following:

"30.951. 1. There is hereby created a "Local Government Investment Pool", consisting of the aggregate of all funds from local officials handling public funds that are placed in the custody of the state treasurer pursuant to this section and sections 30.260, 30.270, and 30.952, for investment and reinvestment as provided in this section. As used in this section, the following terms mean:

(1) "Governing body", the board, body or persons in which the powers of a municipality or political subdivision are vested;

(2) "Municipality", municipal corporations, political corporations, and other public corporations and agencies authorized to exercise governmental functions;

(3) "Political subdivision", counties, townships, cities, towns, villages, schools, county libraries, city libraries, city-county libraries, road, drainage, sewer, levee and fire districts, soil and water conservation districts, watershed subdistricts, county hospitals, and any board of control of an art museum, and any other public subdivision or public corporation having the power to tax.

2. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the governing body, or any person designated by the governing body of any municipality or political subdivision of this state having authority to receive, hold, and expend public moneys or funds, may invest and reinvest in accordance with this section any moneys, including proceeds of bonds, notes or other indebtedness, which are not immediately required for the purposes for which the moneys were collected or received.

3. The state treasurer may administer the local government investment pool on behalf of the participating local officials. The treasurer may promulgate such rules and regulations as the treasurer deems necessary for the efficient administration of the pool, including specification of minimum investment amounts and minimum investment periods. The rules may provide for the administration expenses of the pool to be paid from its earning and for the interest earnings in excess of such expenses to be credited or paid to the participants in the pool in a manner which equitably reflects the differing amounts of their respective investments and the differing periods of time for which such amounts were in the pool. The state treasurer may contract with financial institutions and other service providers in furtherance of the purposes of this section.

4. The local government investment pool may invest funds, either directly, or through repurchase agreements or through money market mutual funds as defined and regulated in Rule 2a-7 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, solely in the obligations authorized in section 15, article IV of the Missouri Constitution.

5. The state treasurer shall ensure all funds in the local government investment pool are invested with the same degree of judgment and care, under circumstances then prevailing, used in the investment of state funds.

6. A separate account for each participant in the fund shall be kept to record individual transactions and totals of all investments belonging to each participant. A monthly report showing the changes in investments made during the preceding month shall be furnished to each participant in the local government investment pool.

7. The principal and accrued income, and any part thereof, of each and every account maintained for a participant in the local government investment pool shall be subject to payment at any time from the pool upon request, subject to applicable regulations and guidelines. Accumulated income shall be remitted or credited to each participant at least quarterly.

8. The state treasurer may appoint an advisory board to assist in the marketing and administration of the local government investment pool. At least seventy-five percent of the advisory board shall be comprised of participants in the investment pool.

9. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. This section and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2002, shall be invalid and void.

30.952. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, any municipality or political subdivision of this state, as defined in section 30.951, may invest in money market mutual funds, as defined and regulated in Rule 2a-7 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, that invest solely in securities in which the state treasurer is authorized to invest."; and Further amend said title, enacting clause and intersectional references accordingly.

"30.260. 1. The state treasurer shall prepare, maintain and adhere to a written investment policy which shall include an asset allocation plan which limits the total amount of state moneys which may be invested in any particular investment authorized by section 15, article IV of the Missouri Constitution. The state treasurer shall present a copy of such policy to the governor, commissioner of administration, state auditor and general assembly at the commencement of each regular session of the general assembly or at any time the written investment policy is amended.

2. The state treasurer shall determine by the exercise of the treasurer's best judgment the amount of state moneys that are not needed for current operating expenses of the state government and shall keep on demand deposit in banking institutions in this state selected by the treasurer and approved by the governor and state auditor the amount of state moneys which the treasurer has so determined are needed for current operating expenses of the state government and disburse the same as authorized by law.

3. Within the parameters of the state treasurer's written investment policy, the state treasurer shall place the state moneys which the treasurer has determined are not needed for current operations of the state government on time deposit drawing interest in banking institutions in this state selected by the treasurer and approved by the governor and the state auditor, or place them outright or, if applicable, by repurchase agreement in obligations described in section 15, article IV, Constitution of Missouri, as the treasurer in the exercise of the treasurer's best judgment determines to be in the best overall interest of the people of the state of Missouri, giving due consideration to:

- (1) The preservation of such state moneys;
- (2) The liquidity needs of the state;
- (3) The comparative yield to be derived therefrom;
- (4) The effect upon the economy and welfare of the people of Missouri of the removal or withholding from banking institutions in the state of all or some such state moneys and investing same in obligations authorized in section 15, article IV of the Missouri Constitution; and
- (5) All other factors which to the treasurer as a prudent state treasurer seem to be relevant to the general public welfare in the light of the circumstances at the time prevailing. The state treasurer may also place state moneys which are determined not needed for current operations of the state government in linked deposits as provided in sections 30.750 to 30.767.

4. Except for state moneys deposited in linked deposits as provided in sections 30.750 to 30.767, the rate of interest payable by all banking institutions on time deposits of state moneys shall be at least the same as the average rate paid during the week next preceding the week in which the deposit was made for United States of America treasury securities maturing and becoming payable closest to the time of termination of the deposit, as determined by the state treasurer, adjusted to the nearest one-tenth of a percent; except that the rate shall never exceed the maximum rate of interest which by federal law or regulation a bank which is a member of the Federal Reserve System may from time to time pay on a time deposit of the same size and maturity.

5. Within the parameters of the state treasurer's written investment policy, the state treasurer may subscribe for or purchase outright, or [by] through repurchase agreement, or money market mutual fund as defined and regulated in Rule 2a-7 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, make investments of the character described in subsection 3 of this section which the treasurer, in the exercise of the treasurer's best judgment, believes to be the best for investment of state moneys at the time and in payment therefor may withdraw moneys from any bank account, demand or time, maintained by the treasurer without having any supporting warrant of the commissioner of administration. The state treasurer may bid on subscriptions for such obligations in accordance with the treasurer's best judgment. The state treasurer shall provide for the safekeeping of all such obligations so acquired in the same manner that securities pledged to secure the repayment of state moneys deposited in banking institutions are kept by the treasurer pursuant to law. The state treasurer may hold any such obligation so acquired by the treasurer until its maturity or prior thereto may sell the same outright or by reverse repurchase agreement provided the state's security interest in the underlying security is perfected or temporarily exchange such obligation for cash or other authorized securities of at least equal market value with no maturity more than one year beyond the maturity of any of the traded obligations, for a negotiated fee as the treasurer, in the exercise of the treasurer's best judgment, deems necessary or advisable for the best interest of the people of the state of Missouri in the light of the circumstances at the time prevailing. The state treasurer may pay all costs and expenses reasonably incurred by the treasurer in connection with the subscription, purchase, sale, collection, safekeeping or delivery of all such obligations at any time acquired by the treasurer.

6. As used in this chapter, except as more particularly specified in section 30.270, obligations of the United States shall include securities of the United States Treasury, and United States agencies or instrumentalities as described in section 15, article IV, Constitution of Missouri. SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 8

Amend Senate Bill No. 895, Page 3, Section 30.270, Line 70, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

"30.951. 1. There is hereby created a "Local Government Investment Pool", consisting of the aggregate of all funds from local officials handling public funds that are placed in the custody of the state treasurer pursuant to this section and sections 30.260, 30.270, and 30.952, for investment and reinvestment as provided in this section. As used in this section, the following terms mean:

(1) "Governing body", the board, body or persons in which the powers of a municipality or political subdivision are vested;

(2) "Municipality", municipal corporations, political corporations, and other public corporations and agencies authorized to exercise governmental functions;

(3) "Political subdivision", counties, townships, cities, towns, villages, schools, county libraries, city libraries, city-county libraries, road, drainage, sewer, levee and fire districts, soil and water conservation districts, watershed subdistricts, county hospitals, and any board of control of an art museum, and any other public subdivision or public corporation having the power to tax.

2. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the governing body, or any person designated by the governing body of any municipality or political subdivision of this state having authority to receive, hold, and expend public moneys or funds, may invest and reinvest in accordance with this section any moneys, including proceeds of bonds, notes or other indebtedness, which are not immediately required for the purposes for which the moneys were collected or received.

3. The state treasurer may administer the local government investment pool on behalf of the participating local officials. The treasurer may promulgate such rules and regulations as the treasurer deems necessary for the efficient administration of the pool, including specification of minimum investment amounts and minimum investment periods. The rules may provide for the administration expenses of the pool to be paid from its earning and for the interest earnings in excess of such expenses to be credited or paid to the participants in the pool in a manner which equitably reflects the differing amounts of their respective investments and the differing periods of time for which such amounts were in the pool. The state treasurer may contract with financial institutions and other service providers in furtherance of the purposes of this section.

4. The local government investment pool may invest funds, either directly, or through repurchase agreements or through money market mutual funds as defined and regulated in Rule 2a-7 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, solely in the obligations authorized in section 15, article IV of the Missouri Constitution.

5. The state treasurer shall ensure all funds in the local government investment pool are invested with the same degree of judgment and care, under circumstances then prevailing, used in the investment of state funds.

6. A separate account for each participant in the fund shall be kept to record individual transactions and totals of all investments belonging to each participant. SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 2

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bills Nos. 970, 968, 921, 867, 868 and 738, Page 32, Section 227.107, Line 5, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"302.720. 1. Except when operating under an instruction permit as described in this section, no person may drive a commercial motor vehicle unless the person has been issued a commercial driver's license with applicable endorsements valid for the type of vehicle being operated as specified in sections 302.700 to 302.780. A commercial driver's instruction permit shall allow the holder of a valid license to operate a commercial motor vehicle when accompanied by the holder of a commercial driver's license valid for the vehicle being operated and who occupies a seat beside the individual, or reasonably near the individual in the case of buses, for the purpose of giving instruction in driving the commercial motor vehicle. A commercial driver's instruction permit shall be valid for the vehicle being operated for a period of not more than six months, and shall not be issued until the permit holder has met all other requirements of sections 302.700 to 302.780, except for the driving test. A permit holder, unless otherwise disqualified, may be granted one six-month renewal within a one-year period. The fee for such permit or renewal shall be five dollars. In the alternative, a commercial driver's instruction permit shall be issued for a thirty-day period to allow the holder of a valid driver's license to operate a commercial motor vehicle if the applicant has completed all other requirements except the driving test. The permit may be renewed for one additional thirty-day period and the fee for the permit and for renewal shall be five dollars.

2. No person may be issued a commercial driver's license until he has passed written and driving tests for the operation of a commercial motor vehicle which complies with the minimum federal standards established by the secretary and has satisfied all other requirements of the Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1986 (Title XII of Pub. Law 99-570), as well as any other requirements imposed by state law. Applicants for a hazardous materials endorsement must also meet the requirements of the U.S. Patriot Act of 2001 (Title X of Pub. Law 107-56) as specified and required by regulations promulgated by the secretary. Nothing contained in this subsection shall be construed as prohibiting the director from establishing alternate testing formats for those who are functionally illiterate; provided, however, that any such alternate test must comply with the minimum requirements of the Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1986 (Title XII of Pub. Law 99-570) as established by the secretary.

(1) The written and driving tests shall be held at such times and in such places as the director may designate. A five-dollar examination fee shall be paid by the applicant upon completion of any written or driving test. The director shall delegate the power to conduct the examinations required under sections 302.700 to 302.780 to any member of the highway patrol or any person employed by the highway patrol qualified to give driving examinations.

(2) The director shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations governing the certification of third-party testers by the department of revenue. Such rules and regulations shall substantially comply with the requirements of 49 CFR Part 383, Section 383.75. A certification to conduct third-party testing shall be valid for one year, and the department shall charge a fee of one hundred dollars to issue or renew the certification of any third-party tester. Any third-party tester who violates any of the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to this section shall be subject to having his certification revoked by the department. The department shall provide written notice and an opportunity for the third-party tester to be heard in substantially the same manner as provided in chapter 536, RSMo. If any applicant submits evidence that he has successfully completed a test administered by a third-party tester, the actual driving test for a commercial driver's license may then be waived.

(3) Every applicant for renewal of a commercial driver's license shall provide such certifications and information as required by the secretary and if such person transports a hazardous material must also meet the requirements of the U.S. Patriot Act of 2001 (Title X of Pub. Law 107-56) as specified and required by regulations promulgated by the secretary, such person shall be required to take the written test for such endorsement. A five-dollar examination fee shall be paid for each test taken.

3. The director may waive the driving test for a commercial driver's license if such applicant provides the certifications required by regulations established by the secretary as a substitute for the driving test and holds a valid license.

4. The certifications may include, but not be limited to, stating that during the two-year period immediately prior to applying for a commercial driver's license the applicant:

(1) Has not had more than one license;

(2) Has not had any license suspended, revoked, canceled or disqualified;

(3) Has not had a conviction in any type of motor vehicle for driving while intoxicated, driving while under the influence of alcohol or controlled substance, leaving the scene of an accident or felony involving the use of a commercial motor vehicle;

(4) Has not violated any state law or county or municipal ordinance relating to the operation of a motor vehicle in connection with an accident; and

(5) Has no record of an accident in which such applicant was at fault.

5. In order to be valid as a certification exempting the applicant from the driving test, the applicant shall also provide evidence and certify that:

(1) He is regularly employed in a job requiring him to drive a commercial motor vehicle; and

(2) He has previously taken and passed a driving test given by a state with a classified licensing and testing system, and that the test was behind the wheel in a representative vehicle for that applicant's license classification; or

(3) He has operated, for at least two years immediately preceding application for a commercial driver's license, a vehicle representative of the commercial motor vehicle the applicant drives or expects to drive.

6. A commercial driver's license may not be issued to a person while the person is disqualified from driving a commercial motor vehicle, when a disqualification is pending in any state or while the person's driver's license is suspended, revoked, or canceled in any state; nor may a commercial driver's license be issued unless the person first surrenders in a manner prescribed by the director any commercial driver's license issued by another state, which license shall be returned to the issuing state for cancellation."; and

Senator Gross offered SA 3:

The applicant shall meet all other requirements of sections 302.700 to 302.780, except that the director may waive the driving test for a commercial driver's license as required in section 302.720 if the applicant for a commercial driver's license has a valid commercial driver's license from a state which has requirements for issuance of such license comparable to those in this state.

4. Any person who falsifies any information in an application or test for a commercial driver's license shall not be licensed to operate a commercial motor vehicle, or the person's commercial driver's license shall be canceled, for a period of one year after the director discovers such falsification.

304.010. 1. As used in this section, the following terms mean:

Such lettered roads shall not exceed fifty-five miles per hour unless set at a higher speed as established by the department of transportation, except that no speed limit shall be set higher than sixty miles per hour;

(6) For the purposes of enforcing the speed limit laws of this state, it is a rebuttable presumption that the posted speed limit is the legal speed limit.

3. On any state road or highway where the speed limit is not set pursuant to a local ordinance, the highways and transportation commission may set a speed limit higher or lower than the uniform maximum speed limit provided in subsection 2 of this section, if a higher or lower speed limit is recommended by the department of transportation. The department of public safety, where it believes for safety reasons, or to expedite the flow of traffic a higher or lower speed limit is warranted, may request the department of transportation to raise or lower such speed limit, except that no speed limit shall be set higher than seventy miles per hour.

4. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 304.120 or any other provision of law to the contrary, cities, towns and villages may regulate the speed of vehicles on state roads and highways within such cities', towns' or villages' corporate limits by ordinance with the approval of the state highways and transportation commission. Any reduction of speed in cities, towns or villages shall be designed to expedite the flow of traffic on such state roads and highways to the extent consistent with public safety. The commission may declare any ordinance void if it finds that such ordinance is:

(1) Not primarily designed to expedite traffic flow; and

(2) Primarily designed to produce revenue for the city, town or village which enacted such ordinance.

If an ordinance is declared void, the city, town or village shall have any future proposed ordinance approved by the highways and transportation commission before such ordinance may take effect.

5. The county commission of any county of the second, third or fourth classification may set the speed limit or the weight limit or both the speed limit and the weight limit on roads or bridges on any county, township or road district road in the county and, with the approval of the state highways and transportation commission, on any state road or highway not within the limits of any incorporated city, town or village, lower than the uniform maximum speed limit as provided in subsection 2 of this section where the condition of the road or the nature of the area requires a lower speed. The commission shall send copies of any order establishing a speed limit or weight limit on roads and bridges on a county, township or road district road in the county to the chief engineer of the state department of transportation, the superintendent of the state highway patrol and to any township or road district maintaining roads in the county. After the roads have been properly marked by signs indicating the speed limits and weight limits set by the county commission, the speed limits and weight limits shall be of the same effect as the speed limits provided for in subsection [1] 2 of this section and shall be enforced by the state highway patrol and the county sheriff as if such speed limits and weight limits were established by state law.

6. All road signs indicating speed limits or weight limits shall be uniform in size, shape, lettering and coloring and shall conform to standards established by the department of transportation.

7. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to alter any speed limit set below fifty-five miles per hour by any ordinance of any county, city, town or village of the state adopted before March 13, 1996.

8. The speed limits established pursuant to this section shall not apply to the operation of any emergency vehicle as defined in section 304.022.

9. A violation of the provisions of this section shall not be construed to relieve the parties in any civil action on any claim or counterclaim from the burden of proving negligence or contributory negligence as the proximate cause of any accident or as the defense to a negligence action.

10. Any person violating the provisions of this section is guilty of a class C misdemeanor, unless such person was exceeding the posted speed limit by twenty miles per hour or more then it is a class B misdemeanor.

11. As used in this section, the word "truck" means any vehicle, machine, tractor, trailer or semitrailer, or any combination thereof, propelled or drawn by mechanical power and designed for or used in the transportation of property upon the highways. (2) The fine provided for in this subsection is in addition to all other fines and court costs imposed for the speeding violation."; and

Further amend said bill, Page 36, Section 305.230, Line 18 of said page, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

All ministerial duties shall be performed by the division, and the administrative law judges shall not be responsible for those activities. The administrative law judges shall hear and decide all matters concerning transportation activities which the public service commission or public service commissioners would have been required to hear and decide in a quasi-judicial capacity.

2. Each administrative law judge may exercise all powers granted to the division without the concurrence of any other administrative law judge, except with respect to the rulemaking powers, in which all administrative law judges must concur. The method of assignment of petitions, appeals or other cases may be determined by rule or other agreement between the administrative law judges. Except as provided in section 622.035, all hearings before the administrative law judges shall be governed by rules adopted by them. In all investigations, inquiries or hearings before the division or the administrative law judges, neither the administrative law judges nor the division shall be bound by technical rules of evidence. No formality in any proceeding nor in the manner of taking testimony before the division or an administrative law judge shall invalidate any order, decision, rule or regulation made, approved or confirmed by the division or administrative law judge.

3. The division [may] shall charge a [reasonable] docket fee [as may be set by rule] of two hundred dollars to be paid upon the filing of any petition, application, complaint, or other request for relief or authority by any party other than the division staff. All such docket fees shall be paid to the state director of revenue at the time of the filing of any such petition, application, complaint or other request for relief or authority, and the same shall be deposited by the state director of revenue in the highway fund of the state of Missouri.";

RESOLUTIONS

Senator Russell offered Senate Resolution No. 1121, regarding Kenneth E. Jones, D.O., Lebanon, which was adopted.

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 1122

WHEREAS, the United States Army Corps of Engineers is considering six alternatives for managing the Missouri River mainstream reservoir system. Excluding the Current Water Control Plan (CWCP), there are five other plans which would result in the storage of more water in the upstream reservoirs while decreasing the amount of useable water available for downstream designated uses; and

WHEREAS, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has recommended flow changes below Gavins Point Dam and four of the six plans proposed by the United States Army Corps of Engineers include both an artificial spring rise and a summer low flow component downstream of Gavins Point Dam; and

WHEREAS, these proposed changes in total system storage would restrict the use of water by downstream states and thus be detrimental to the future welfare of Missourians. Substantial flow restrictions would put not only Missouri River navigation at risk but Mississippi River navigation at risk; and

WHEREAS, the Corps of Engineers own analysis shows a net habitat gain of a minimal 37.4 acres below Gavins Point Dam will occur by implementing proposed changes increasing river flows to 20,000 cubic feet per second over CWCP releases and reducing summer flows to 21,000; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri River watershed drains one-sixth of the United States over an eight-state area and the river itself is 2,341 miles long, 37.4 acres of net new habitat compared to this massive land area seems incredibly out of balance considering the risks associated with the proposed changes; and

WHEREAS, spring releases from Gavins Point Dam during May would increase the risk of flooding, cause higher groundwater levels, and impede interior drainage throughout the lower basin; and

WHEREAS, summer low flows of the magnitude that are being proposed, would likely have a severe impact on industries and utilities that depend on the waters of the Missouri River; and

WHEREAS, the State of Missouri believes that the Missouri River must remain a river of many uses maintaining the Congressionally authorized purposes of the River particularly flood control and navigation, and that future management of the River must balance the interests of both the upstream and downstream reaches of the River:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Missouri Senate, Ninety-first General Assembly, Second Regular Session, hereby urge the federal government not to adopt any proposal that would negatively impact beneficial uses of the lower Missouri and Mississippi Rivers; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States, Vice President of the United States, Secretary of the United States Department of Interior, Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, Secretary of the United States Department of Transportation, Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works, and the Chief of Engineers of the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

Senator Jacob offered the following resolution:

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 1123

WHEREAS, the Missouri General Assembly has compiled a long tradition of rendering assistance to those programs aimed at developing exemplary qualities of citizenship and leadership within our youth; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Girls State program of the American Legion Auxiliary has earned considerable recognition for its success in providing young women with a unique and valuable insight into the process of democratic government through a format of direct role-playing experience; and

WHEREAS, during June 2002, the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Missouri, is conducting the Sixty-First annual session of Missouri Girls State; and

WHEREAS, an important highlight of this event would be conducting a mock legislative session in the Senate Chamber at our State Capitol where participants could gather to gain a more realistic insight into official governmental and electoral proceedings;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-First General Assembly, hereby grant the adult leaders and participants of the Sixty-First Session of the Missouri Girls State permission to use the Senate Chamber for the purpose of swearing in mock legislative officials and conducting a mock legislative session on June 25, 2002.

RESOLUTIONS

Senators Staples and Steelman, joined by the entire membership of the Senate, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 1124

WHEREAS, Wilma Bedell Ball came into this world near Great Falls, Montana, on January 5, 1917, and enjoyed a safe and secure childhood provided by her parents who raised her on a farm located on the Current River between the Missouri towns of Van Buren and Doniphan; and

WHEREAS, Wilma received her education in a one-room school house in the Ozarks before graduating from Doniphan High School and embarking upon a new and exciting chapter in her life with her marriage to her beloved Jasper P. Bedell, with whom she shared the love and admiration of four wonderful sons, Allen, Richard, Don, and Tom; and

WHEREAS, Wilma taught at the one-room school house she had attended as a child from 1934 to 1937, and went on to distinguish herself as an educator in Louisiana where she served as an Elementary School Principal in Evangeline Parish from 1941 through 1949, and was honored as an Outstanding Lady - State of Louisiana and presided over Mardi Gras balls and parades in 1962; and

WHEREAS, Wilma earned distinction as the Executive Director and General Manager of the Southwest Louisiana Fair Association from 1949 to 1962 and entered the insurance business as a partner and manager of an agency in Eunice, Louisiana, in the 1950s, before returning to the Show-Me State following the death of her husband; and

WHEREAS, Wilma was fortunate to find true love once again when she married Kelly Ball, a kind and caring gentleman with whom she made her home in Poplar Bluff, Missouri, where she became a high school English teacher in 1967; and

WHEREAS, it wasn't until 1971 that Wilma became a Licensed Nursing Home Administrator, serving as Administrator for the Clark's Mountain Nursing Home in Piedmont, Missouri, from 1972 to 1985, and accepting the position of Administrator at Riverways Manor in Van Buren, Missouri; and

WHEREAS, a member of various civic, religious, and professional organizations, Wilma Ball continues to serve as the Administrator for Riverways Manor, a sixty-bed, skilled nursing facility where residents look to her for comfort and guidance and sincerely appreciate her genuine concern for them and their well-being:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-first General Assembly, unanimously join in a thunderous round of applause for Wilma Ball, a remarkable woman of peace and kindness in this world whose tremendous energy and incredible zest for life continue to serve as an inspiration to all those who know and love her; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution for Wilma Bedell Ball of Poplar Bluff, Missouri.

Senator Gross offered Senate Resolution No. 1125, regarding John Walter Richardson, II, St. Charles, which was adopted.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 52

WHEREAS, Mexico has no nationwide automated system for monitoring the safety history or violation records of Mexican companies and drivers, or a system to verify drivers' licenses, or drug testing for drivers, and it is therefore difficult for Missouri law enforcement personnel to obtain essential safety data; and

WHEREAS, if trucks from Mexico are allowed access to the state of Missouri, verification of foreign insurance policies and access to foreign judicial systems will be very difficult when accidents occur, possibly resulting in the delay of settlements and payments to the injured citizens of this state; and

WHEREAS, Mexico does not have labeling of hazardous or toxic cargo which poses a clear and present danger to the security of the State of Missouri if trucks transporting such cargo enter territory of the state without prior inspection at the border of the United States; and

WHEREAS, large quantities of illegal drugs are smuggled into Missouri from foreign nations, including Mexico; and

WHEREAS, the State of Missouri is promoting a "Customs Harmonization Pilot Project" designed to expedite international cargo movement by eliminating inspections at border crossings because of the North American Free Trade Agreement; and

WHEREAS, the State of Missouri's "Customs Harmonization Pilot Project" threatens to expedite passage of trucks from Mexico into the United States without inspection, and therefore does not adequately address the concerns and safety needs of the citizens of the State of Missouri:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Missouri Senate, Ninety-first General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urge the Governor to oppose any effort to allow trucks to enter the State of Missouri without first being inspected at the border of the United States and Mexico; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the members of the General Assembly memorializes the Governor to restrict trucks from Mexico and other foreign nations from entering the State of Missouri until there is full compliance by the owners and drivers of those trucks with all highway safety, environmental and drug enforcement laws; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution for the Governor.

Gracious and loving Lord, we thank You for Your abiding presence in our lives, for watching over us and bringing us safely here to resume our work. We thank You for the love You have shown us and permit us to share with others, for it brings joy to our hearts and smiles on our lips. We thank You for Your Spirit that gives us guidance as we discern difficult and complex issues facing us. The venue for seeking issuance of such subpoena shall be in the county or city not within a county where the witness or records are domiciled. Any request for subpoena shall:

- (1) State the statute and section thereof, the alleged violation of which is under investigation, and the general subject matter of the investigation;

5. In investigating violations of this chapter the secretary of state and any local law enforcement officials shall refrain from any conduct which has the possibility of affecting the conduct or outcome of an election. No investigations of alleged violations of this chapter by the secretary of state or local law enforcement officials shall occur prior to an election and subpoenas requested prior to an election shall be issued only if sufficient evidence exist that information or documents sought under the subpoena will be unavailable after the election.

6. Upon the order of a court of competent jurisdiction, the secretary of state shall have the right to access records that are closed under this chapter or under chapter 610 if such records are necessary for the conduct of an investigation under this section."

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following proclamation was received from the Governor, reading of which was waived:

Office of the Governor

Proclamation

WHEREAS, during 2001 all major national forecasters envisioned an economy that would begin growing again during the last half of the year and continue with substantial growth during 2002; and

WHEREAS, instead of growing, the economy officially went into recession in April 2001, according to the National Bureau of Economic Research, which recession continues; and

WHEREAS, as a result of the recession and its effects, Missouri and the other states in our nation are struggling through difficult economic times, as demonstrated by the fact that the National Association of State Budget Officers' reports that Fiscal Year 2002 budget shortfalls totaling approximately $40 billion dollars exist in 40 states, the National Conference of State Legislatures reports that at least 37 states and the District of Columbia face potential budget gaps in Fiscal Year 2003, and at least 25 states other than Missouri are using budget reserves in response to budget shortfalls; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri unemployment rate increased to 5.3% in January of 2002 from 4.4% in April 2001, when the recession began, and over 67,500 more Missourians were unemployed in January 2002 than in April 2001, resulting in less tax revenue to the states and an increase in needs for state services among the unemployed and their families; and

WHEREAS, since the terrorist attacks of September 11, economic recovery has been slower and weaker than expected, thereby exacerbating the recession; and

WHEREAS, measures related to homeland security after the attacks of September 11 will cost state and local governments millions of dollars for programs not covered by federal funding; and

WHEREAS, the U.S. Congress passed H.R. 1836, The Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001, which will reduce Missouri revenue collections by $21.1 million in Fiscal Year 2002 and by $41.6 million in Fiscal Year 2003; and

WHEREAS, State revenue collections have failed to keep pace with consensus revenue estimates that are agreed upon by the Governor's office and members of the House of Representatives and the Senate, and on which budgets have been built to address programs required by state and federal legislation and to respond to the pressures of a growing and aging population, to wit:

- The Fiscal Year 2002 consensus revenue estimate is $6,419.2 million, a total of $520.8 million below the $6,940 million on which the budget is based,
- The Fiscal Year 2002 consensus revenue estimate is $36.3 million below those actually received in Fiscal Year 2001, a .6 percent decline,
- The Fiscal Year 2003 consensus revenue estimate is $149.5 million over the Fiscal Year 2002 estimate, a relatively anemic 2.3 percent growth,
- The Fiscal Year 2003 consensus revenue estimate is $371.3 million below the amount needed to support the budget approved for Fiscal Year 2002,
- In Fiscal Year 2003 the State of Missouri faced a total of $332.9 million in mandatory cost increases for Medicaid ($157.5 million), corrections ($48.3 million), state employee health care ($13.4 million), and other items; and

WHEREAS, $536 million in budget cuts and withholdings in the Fiscal Year 2002 budget have eliminated or reduced funding throughout the budget, making additional cuts in the core budget very difficult, which cuts and withholdings include:

- Withholding $200.3 million in state agency operating budget spending,
- Withholding $140.7 million in capital improvements spending, mostly for constructing buildings on the campuses of the state's colleges and universities,
- Withholding $82.5 million in spending from the tobacco settlement and redirecting that money to general revenue,
- Vetoes of $26.5 million from the budget,
- Reducing tax credits by $7.5 million,
- Redirecting $48.5 million in unobligated tobacco settlement funds and intergovernmental transfers to general revenue purposes,
- Redirecting $30 million in funds from other state accounts to general revenue; and

WHEREAS, in Fiscal Year 2003 the Governor has recommended $480 million in general revenue core reductions; and

WHEREAS, these core reductions include elimination of entire programs and reductions of 25 percent or more for other programs; and

WHEREAS, failing to provide additional funds by utilizing the budget reserve fund will require eliminating additional programs critical to the health, safety, and welfare of Missouri's most vulnerable citizens, including children, the elderly, and people with physical and mental disabilities; and

WHEREAS, the very purpose of the budget reserve fund, commonly known as the rainy day fund, as approved by the votes of this State, is to provide funds that the State can use in a time of great need, whether that need is occasioned by natural disaster, an economic downturn, or other circumstances, so that the State of Missouri has the ability to weather an economic storm; and

WHEREAS, the Constitution requires that the Governor declare an emergency so that the General Assembly may appropriate funds from the Budget Reserve Fund.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Bob Holden, Governor of the State of Missouri, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Missouri, including Article III, section 27(a) of the Missouri Constitution and sections 44.010 to 44.130, RSMo, do hereby proclaim that an emergency exists in the State of Missouri as a result of the current economic conditions that prevail in the state of Missouri and the nation, which constitute a disaster of major proportions.

Bob Holden

Governor

Journal of the Senate

THIRTY-FIFTH DAY--THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 2002

President Maxwell in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"My soul will be satisfied as with the richest of foods; with singing lips my mouth will praise You." (Psalm 63:5)

Gracious God, we find our satisfaction in You who continues to provide us all the wherewithal of life; food for our bodies, friends for our fellowship, love for our hearts desire and sharing of Your spiritual presence with those we love. Words cannot even express how grateful we are that You are in our lives, for it makes them complete. Be with us this weekend in all we say and do. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

Journal of the Senate

THIRTY-SIXTH DAY--MONDAY, MARCH 11, 2002

President Maxwell in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"In you O Lord, I take refuge; let me never be put to shame." (Psalm 71:1)

Merciful Father, we join our fellow citizens in remembering the events of September 11th and the brokenness we experienced in the violence and death terrorists brought to our land. We pray, touch the hearts of those whose grief continues and survivors who experience terror revisited at night. You provide us support and comfort when we feel most broken. You soothe us with Your healing balm that over time mends our hearts and spirits. And You give to us the resolve to follow Your will as You provide us the courage to do what we as individuals of a great country must do. Instill in us, we pray, the vision we must have to be part of the process that strengthens our country and safeguards our people. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

In such case, the court shall have the authority to terminate the prosecution of the summons issued to the owner and issue a summons to the person identified in the affidavit as the operator of the motor vehicle at the time of the violation. If the motor vehicle is alleged to have been stolen, the owner of the motor vehicle shall submit proof that a police report was filed indicating that the motor vehicle was stolen at the time of the alleged violation.

5. A summons issued pursuant to this section shall be sent by certified mail to the most recent address of the owner of the motor vehicle within twenty-one days of the violation. The cost of issuing the certified letter may be charged in addition to the fine imposed pursuant to subsection 10 of this section. Any compensation paid to a private vendor shall not be based upon a contingency basis nor shall such compensation be based upon revenues generated from the use of such system. The city may enter into an agreement with the department of revenue for the purpose of obtaining relevant records regarding the owner in order to prepare and mail summonses on behalf of the city.

9. Photographic records made by a traffic control signal enforcement system that are provided to governmental and law enforcement agencies for the purposes of this section shall be confidential.

10. No points shall be assessed, as described in section 302.302, RSMo, and no fine, including court costs, shall exceed fifty dollars for a violation obtained through the use of an automated traffic control enforcement system.

"304.351. 1. The driver of a vehicle approaching an intersection shall yield the right-of-way to a vehicle which has entered the intersection from a different highway, provided, however, there is no form of traffic control at such intersection.

2. When two vehicles enter an intersection from different highways at approximately the same time, the driver of the vehicle on the left shall yield the right-of-way to the driver of the vehicle on the right. This subsection shall not apply to vehicles approaching each other from opposite directions when the driver of one of such vehicles is attempting to or is making a left turn.

3. The driver of a vehicle within an intersection intending to turn to the left shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction which is within the intersection or so close thereto as to constitute an immediate hazard.

4. (1) The state highways and transportation commission with reference to state highways and local authorities with reference to other highways under their jurisdiction may designate through highways and erect stop signs or yield signs at specified entrances thereto, or may designate any intersection as a stop intersection or as a yield intersection and erect stop signs or yield signs at one or more entrances to such intersection.

[(1)] (2) Preferential right-of-way at an intersection may be indicated by stop signs or yield signs as authorized in this section:

(a) Except when directed to proceed by a police officer or traffic-control signal, every driver of a vehicle approaching a stop intersection, indicated by a stop sign, shall stop at a clearly marked stop line, but if none, before entering the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection, or if none, then at the point nearest the intersecting roadway where the driver has a view of approaching traffic in the intersecting roadway before entering the intersection. After having stopped, the driver shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle which has entered the intersection from another highway or which is approaching so closely on the highway as to constitute an immediate hazard during the time when such driver is moving across or within the intersection.

(b) The driver of a vehicle approaching a yield sign shall in obedience to the sign slow down to a speed reasonable to the existing conditions and, if required for safety to stop, shall stop at a clearly marked stop line, but if none, then at the point nearest the intersecting roadway where the driver has a view of approaching traffic on the intersecting roadway. After slowing or stopping the driver shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle in the intersection or approaching on another highway so closely as to constitute an immediate hazard during the time such traffic is moving across or within the intersection.

5. The driver of a vehicle about to enter or cross a highway from an alley, building or any private road or driveway shall yield the right-of-way to all vehicles approaching on the highway to be entered.

6. The driver of a vehicle intending to make a left turn into an alley, private road or driveway shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction when the making of such left turn would create a traffic hazard.

7. The state highways and transportation commission or local authorities with respect to roads under their respective jurisdictions, on any section where construction or major maintenance operations are being effected, may fix a speed limit in such areas by posting of appropriate signs, and the operation of a motor vehicle in excess of such speed limit in the area so posted shall be deemed prima facie evidence of careless and imprudent driving and a violation of section 304.010.

8. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 304.361, violation of this section shall be deemed a class C misdemeanor.

9. In addition to the penalty specified in subsection 8 of this section any person who pleads guilty to or is found guilty of a violation of this section in which the offender is found to have caused physical injury shall be assessed a court cost of two hundred dollars and shall have their driver's license, commercial driver's license, permit, or nonresident operating privilege suspended for a period of thirty days.

10. In addition to the penalty specified in subsection 8 of this section any person who pleads guilty to or is found guilty of a violation of this section in which the offender is found to have caused serious physical injury shall be assessed a court cost of five hundred dollars and shall have their driver's license, commercial driver's license, permit, or nonresident operating privilege suspended for a period of ninety days.

11. In addition to the penalty specified in subsection 8 of this section any person who pleads guilty to or is found guilty of a violation of this section in which the offender is found to have caused a fatality shall be assessed a court cost of one thousand dollars and shall have their driver's license, commercial driver's license, permit, or nonresident operating privilege suspended for a period of six months.

"304.010. 1. As used in this section, the following terms mean:

- (1) "Expressway", a divided highway of at least ten miles in length with four or more lanes which is not part of the federal interstate system of highways which has crossovers or accesses from streets, roads or other highways at the same grade level as such divided highway;
- (2) "Freeway", a limited access divided highway of at least ten miles in length with four or more lanes which is not part of the federal interstate system of highways which does not have any crossovers or accesses from streets, roads or other highways at the same grade level as such divided highway within such ten miles of divided highway;

(3) "Rural interstate", that part of the federal interstate highway system that is not located in an urban area;

(4) "Urbanized area", an area of fifty thousand population at a density at or greater than one thousand persons per square mile.

(5) All other roads provided for in subdivision (4) of this subsection shall not include any state two-lane road which is identified by letter. Such lettered roads shall not exceed fifty-five miles per hour unless set at a higher speed as established by the department of transportation, except that no speed limit shall be set higher than sixty miles per hour;

(6) For the purposes of enforcing the speed limit laws of this state, it is a rebuttable presumption that the posted speed limit is the legal speed limit.

3. On any state road or highway where the speed limit is not set pursuant to a local ordinance, the highways and transportation commission may set a speed limit higher or lower than the uniform maximum speed limit provided in subsection 2 of this section, if a higher or lower speed limit is recommended by the department of transportation. The department of public safety, where it believes for safety reasons, or to expedite the flow of traffic a higher or lower speed limit is warranted, may request the department of transportation to raise or lower such speed limit, except that no speed limit shall be set higher than seventy miles per hour.

4. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 304.120 or any other provision of law to the contrary, cities, towns and villages may regulate the speed of vehicles on state roads and highways within such cities', towns' or villages' corporate limits by ordinance with the approval of the state highways and transportation commission. (2) Primarily designed to produce revenue for the city, town or village which enacted such ordinance.

If an ordinance is declared void, the city, town or village shall have any future proposed ordinance approved by the highways and transportation commission before such ordinance may take effect.

5. The county commission of any county of the second, third or fourth classification may set the speed limit or the weight limit or both the speed limit and the weight limit on roads or bridges on any county, township or road district road in the county and, with the approval of the state highways and transportation commission, on any state road or highway not within the limits of any incorporated city, town or village, lower than the uniform maximum speed limit as provided in subsection 2 of this section where the condition of the road or the nature of the area requires a lower speed. The commission shall send copies of any order establishing a speed limit or weight limit on roads and bridges on a county, township or road district road in the county to the chief engineer of the state department of transportation, the superintendent of the state highway patrol and to any township or road district maintaining roads in the county. After the roads have been properly marked by signs indicating the speed limits and weight limits set by the county commission, the speed limits and weight limits shall be of the same effect as the speed limits provided for in subsection [1] 2 of this section and shall be enforced by the state highway patrol and the county sheriff as if such speed limits and weight limits were established by state law.

6. All road signs indicating speed limits or weight limits shall be uniform in size, shape, lettering and coloring and shall conform to standards established by the department of transportation.

7. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to alter any speed limit set below fifty-five miles per hour by any ordinance of any county, city, town or village of the state adopted before March 13, 1996.

8. The speed limits established pursuant to this section shall not apply to the operation of any emergency vehicle as defined in section 304.022.

11. As used in this section, the word "truck" means any vehicle, machine, tractor, trailer or semitrailer, or any combination thereof, propelled or drawn by mechanical power and designed for or used in the transportation of property upon the highways. 12. (1) The operator of any truck registered for a gross weight of more than forty-eight thousand pounds operating such vehicle at a speed in excess of sixty-five miles per hour shall be fined one hundred dollars for every five-mile increment in which the operator exceeds sixty-five miles per hour.

(2) The fine provided for in this subsection is in addition to all other fines and court costs imposed for the speeding violation."; and

HOUSE COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 11

WHEREAS, the State of Missouri borders 488 miles of the Mississippi River; and

WHEREAS, many of Missouri's locks and dams are more than 60 years old and only 600 feet long, making them unable to accommodate modern barge tows of 1,200 feet long, nearly tripling locking times, and causing lengthy delays and ultimately increasing shipping costs; and

WHEREAS, the use of 1,200-foot locks has been proven nationwide as the best method of improving efficiency, reducing congestion, and modernizing the inland waterways; and

WHEREAS, the construction of the lock and dam system has spurred economic growth and a higher standard of living in the Mississippi and Illinois river basin, and today supplies more than 300 million tons of the nation's cargo, supporting more than 400,000 jobs, including 90,000 in manufacturing; and

WHEREAS, more than 60 percent of American agriculture exports, including corn, wheat, and soybeans, are shipped down the Mississippi and Illinois rivers on the way to foreign markets; and

WHEREAS, Missouri farmers, producers, and consumers rely on efficient transportation to remain competitive in a global economy, and efficiencies in river transport offset higher production costs compared to those incurred by foreign competitors; and

WHEREAS, the Upper Mississippi and Illinois lock and dam system saves our nation more than 1.5 billion dollars in higher transportation costs each year, and failing to construct 1,200-foot locks will cause farmers to use more expensive alternative modes of transportation, including trucks and trains; and

WHEREAS, according to the United States Army Corps of Engineers, congestion along the Upper Mississippi and Illinois rivers is costing Missouri and other producers and consumers in the basin 98 million dollars a year in higher transportation costs; and

WHEREAS, river transportation is the most environmentally friendly form of transporting goods and commodities, creating almost no noise pollution and emitting 35 to 60 percent fewer pollutants than either trucks or trains according to the United States Environmental Protection

Agency; and

WHEREAS, moving away from river transport would add millions of trucks and rail cars to our nation's infrastructure, adding air pollution, traffic congestion, and greater wear and tear on highways; and

WHEREAS, backwater lakes created by the lock and dam system provide breeding grounds for migratory waterfowl and fish; and

WHEREAS, the lakes and 500 miles of wildlife refuge also support a billion-dollar-a-year recreational industry, including hunting, fishing, and tourism jobs; and

WHEREAS, upgrading the system of locks and dams on the Upper Mississippi and Illinois rivers will provide 3,000 high-paying construction and related jobs over a 15 to 20 year period with health benefits which will benefit not only those directly employed, but the local health care systems and economies of the communities in which these individuals live and work; and

WHEREAS, in 1999, the State of Missouri shipped 18.8 million tons of commodities, including grain, coal, chemicals, aggregates, and other products; and

WHEREAS, 38.6 million tons of commodities, including grain, coal, chemicals, aggregates, and other products, were shipped to, from, and within Missouri by barge, representing 4.2 billion dollars in value; and

WHEREAS, shippers moving by barge in Missouri realized a savings of approximately $380 million compared to other transportation modes; and

WHEREAS, Missouri docks shipped products by barge to 18 states and received products from 17 states; and

WHEREAS, the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis shipped and received 32.6 million tons of commodities in 1999 worth over 5 billion dollars and is the second busiest inland port in the United States, linking rural Missouri and St. Louis with world markets; and

WHEREAS, there are approximately 183 manufacturing facilities, terminals, and docks on the waterways of Missouri, representing thousands of jobs in this state:

"537.600. 1. Such sovereign or governmental tort immunity as existed at common law in this state prior to September 12, 1977, except to the extent waived, abrogated or modified by statutes in effect prior to that date, shall remain in full force and effect; except that, the immunity of the public entity from liability and suit for compensatory damages for negligent acts or omissions is hereby expressly waived in the following instances:

(1) Injuries directly resulting from the negligent acts or omissions by public employees arising out of the operation of motor vehicles or motorized vehicles within the course of their employment;

(2) Injuries caused by the condition of a public entity's property if the plaintiff establishes that:

(a) The property was in dangerous condition at the time of the injury[, that];

(b) The injury directly resulted from the dangerous condition[, that];

(c) The dangerous condition created a reasonably foreseeable risk of harm of the kind of injury which was incurred[, and that]; and

(d) Either a negligent or wrongful act or omission of an employee of the public entity within the course of his employment created the dangerous condition or a public entity had actual or constructive notice of the dangerous condition in sufficient time prior to the injury to have taken measures to protect against the dangerous condition. In any action under this subdivision wherein a plaintiff alleges that he was damaged by the negligent, defective or dangerous design of a highway or road, [which was designed and constructed prior to September 12, 1977,] the public entity shall be entitled to a defense which shall be a complete bar to recovery whenever the public entity can prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the alleged negligent, defective, or dangerous design reasonably complied with highway and road design standards generally accepted at the time the road or highway was designed and constructed. Pursuant to the prerogative of the general assembly to declare the public policy of the state in matters concerning liability in tort for public entities, the general assembly declares that the above plain language does not include a requirement that property must have a physical defect as a necessary element for the property to be in a dangerous condition. The plain language clearly intends that government should be responsible for injuries to persons for negligently maintaining a dangerous condition in the same way as citizens are held to such standard of care. The legislature clearly did not intend that governmental agencies which create dangerous conditions or have notice of dangerous conditions may continue to maintain those dangerous conditions which cause serious injury with impunity.

2. The express waiver of sovereign immunity in the instances specified in subdivisions (1) and (2) of subsection 1 of this section are absolute waivers of sovereign immunity in all cases within such situations whether or not the public entity was functioning in a governmental or proprietary capacity and whether or not the public entity is covered by a liability insurance for tort.

3. The term "public entity" as used in this section shall include any multi-state compact agency created by a compact formed between this state and any other state which has been approved by the Congress of the United States. Sovereign immunity, if any, is waived for the proprietary functions of such multi-state compact agencies as of the date that the Congress of the United States approved any such multi-state compact.

4. Pursuant to the prerogative of the general assembly to declare the public policy of the state in matters concerning liability in tort for public entities, the general assembly declares that prior to September 12, 1977, there was no sovereign or governmental immunity for the proprietary functions of multistate compact agencies operating pursuant to the provisions of sections 70.370 to 70.440, RSMo, and 238.030 to 238.110, RSMo, including functions such as the operation of motor vehicles and the maintenance of property, involved in the operation of a public transit or public transportation system, and that policy is hereby reaffirmed and declared to remain in effect.

5. Any court decision dated subsequent to August 13, 1978, holding to the contrary of subsection 4 of this section erroneously interprets the law and the public policy of this state, and any claimant alleging tort liability under such circumstances for an occurrence within five years prior to February 17, 1988, shall in addition to the time allowed by the applicable statutes of limitation or limitation of appeal, have up to one year after July 14, 1989, to file or refile an action against such public entity and may recover damages imposed by the common law of this state as for any other person alleged to have caused similar damages under similar circumstances."; and

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

THIRTY-NINTH DAY--THURSDAY, MARCH 14, 2002

Senator Singleton in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"Six days shall work be done, but on the seventh day you shall have a holy Sabbath of solemn rest to the Lord; whoever does any work on it shall be put to death." (Exodus 35:2)

Heavenly Father, we are so thankful for giving us the work we do for it gives meaning and purpose in our daily living. But in our working so hard we forget the Sabbath was given for us to rest, to spend time with our families, share with loved ones and hear Your Holy Word so that our bodies might be refreshed and we live healthy, caring and productive lives. May we use this weekend with the seriousness with which You have commanded us. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

4. The notice issued by the circuit clerk shall contain, at a minimum, the following information:

(1) The parent's name and Social Security number;

(2) A statement that the parent is required to provide and maintain health benefit plan coverage for a dependent minor child; and

5. The notice to withhold sufficient funds from the earnings due the obligor to cover employee contributions or premiums, when necessary to comply with the order to provide health benefit plan coverage, is binding on current and successor employers for current and subsequent periods of employment. Such notice shall continue until further notice by the court or division.

6. The withholding of health benefit plan employee contributions or premiums from income, if required to comply with the order, shall not be held in abeyance pending the outcome of any hearing provided pursuant to section 454.609.

454.609. 1. At the same time an employer or union notice is sent pursuant to section 454.606, the circuit clerk or the division, as appropriate, shall send a notice to the obligor by any form of mail to the obligor's last known address. The information contained in that notice shall include:

(1) A statement that the parent has been directed to provide and maintain health benefit plan coverage for the benefit of a minor child;

(2) The name and date of birth of the minor child;

(3) A statement that the income withholding for health benefit coverage applies to current and subsequent periods of employment;

(4) [The procedure available to] A statement that the parent may within thirty days of the mailing date of the order or notice submit a written contest to the withholding on the grounds that the withholding is not proper because of mistake of fact or because the obligor [has purchased] provides other insurance that was obtained prior to issuance of the withholding order or notice that is comparable to the health benefit plan available through the employer or union or nonemployer or nonunion group;

(5) A statement that if the obligor contests the withholding, the obligor shall be afforded an opportunity to present his or her case to the court or the division within thirty days of receipt of the notice of contest;

(6) A statement of exemptions which may apply to limit the portion of the obligated party's disposable earnings which are subject to the withholding under federal or state law;

(7) The Social Security number of the obligor, if available;

(8) A statement that state law prohibits employers from retaliating against an obligor under an order to provide health benefit plan coverage and that the court or the division should be contacted if the obligor has been retaliated against by his or her employer as a result of the order for health benefit plan coverage.

2. The only grounds to contest a withholding order or notice for health benefit plan coverage sent to an employer or union shall be mistake of fact or [the obligor's purchase of] that the obligor obtained other insurance prior to issuance of the withholding order or notice that is comparable to the health benefit plan available through the employer or union, or nonemployer or nonunion group. For purposes of sections 454.600 to 454.645, "mistake of fact" means an error as to the identity of the obligor.

3. If the obligor contests the withholding order or notice for health plan coverage because of mistake of fact or [the purchase of] because the obligor obtained comparable insurance [within fifteen days of the mail date of the notice] prior to issuance of the withholding order or notice, the court or the director shall hold a hearing, enter an order disposing of all issues disputed by the obligor[, indicate the date that withholding will commence, if appropriate,] and notify the obligated party of the determination and date, within forty-five days of the date of receipt of the obligated party's notice of contest.

454.615. 1. Upon receipt of a court or administrative order, or notice, for health benefit plan coverage, the employer or union shall [forward a copy of] transfer the order or notice to the [health benefit plan administrator or insurer, as applicable] appropriate group health plan providing the health plan coverage for which the child is eligible, excluding any severable notice to withhold for health care coverage directing the employer or union to withhold any mandatory employee contribution to the plan, within twenty business days after the date of the order or notice.

2. Within forty business days after the date of the order or notice, the plan administrator shall:

(1) Notify the issuing agency whether coverage of the child is available under the terms of the plan and, if so, whether such child is covered under the plan and either the effective date of such coverage or, if necessary, any steps to be taken by the custodial parent or issuing agency to effectuate such coverage; and

(2) Provide to the custodial parent or issuing agency a description of the coverage available and any forms or documents necessary to effectuate such coverage.

454.618. 1. Upon receipt of the court or administrative order, or notice, for health benefit plan coverage, or upon application of the obligor pursuant to that order, the employer or union shall take necessary action to enroll the minor child as an eligible dependent in the health benefit plan and, upon enrollment, withhold any required employee contribution or premium from the obligor's income or wages necessary for the coverage of the child and send any amount withheld directly to the health benefit plan administrator. If more than one health benefit plan is offered by the employer or union, the minor child shall be enrolled in the plan in which the obligor is enrolled. When one or more plans are available and the obligor is not enrolled in a plan that covers dependents or is not enrolled in any plan, the [employer or union shall enroll the] minor child and the obligor if necessary shall be enrolled under the least costly plan that provides service to the area where the child resides if the order or notice for health benefit plan coverage is not a National Medical Support Notice issued by the division or IV-D agency of another state. If the notice for health benefit plan coverage is a National Medical Support Notice issued by the division or IV-D agency of another state, the health benefit plan administrator shall provide to the issuing agency copies of the applicable summary plan descriptions or other documents that describe available coverage, including the additional participant contribution necessary to obtain coverage for the child under each option and whether there is a limited service area for any option. The issuing agency, in consultation with the custodial parent, must promptly select from the available plan options. If the issuing agency does not make such selection within twenty business days from the date the plan administrator provided the option, the plan administrator shall enroll the child in the plan's default option, if any. If the plan does not have a default option, the plan administrator shall enroll the child in the option selected by the issuing agency.

2. In those instances where the obligor fails or refuses to execute any document necessary to enroll the minor child in the health benefit plan ordered by the court, the required information and authorization may be provided by the division or the custodial parent or guardian of the minor child.

3. Information and authorization provided by the division or the custodial parent or guardian of the minor child shall be valid for the purpose of meeting enrollment requirements of the health benefit plan and shall not affect the obligation of the employer or union and the insurer to enroll the minor child in the health benefit plan for which other eligibility, enrollment, underwriting terms and other requirements are met. However, any health benefit plan provision which denies or restricts coverage to a minor child of the obligor due to birth out of wedlock shall be void as against public policy.

4. A minor child that an obligor is required to cover as an eligible dependent pursuant to sections 454.600 to 454.645 shall be considered for health benefit plan coverage purposes as a dependent of the obligor until the child's right to parental support terminates or until further order of the court, but in no event past the limiting age set forth in the health benefit plan.

454.627. When an order for health benefit plan coverage pursuant to sections 454.600 to 454.645 is in effect, upon termination of the obligor's employment, or upon termination of the health benefit plan coverage, the employer, union or health benefit plan administrator, as appropriate, shall make a good faith effort to notify the obligee, [and] or in IV-D cases, the division, within ten days of the termination date with notice of continuation or conversion privileges. In addition, in IV-D cases, upon termination of the obligor's employment, the employer shall promptly notify the division or IV-D agency of another state, as applicable, of the obligor's last known address and the name and address of the obligor's new employer, if known.

454.700. 1. In any case in which a parent is required by a court or administrative order to provide medical coverage for a child, under any health benefit plan, as defined in section 454.600, and a parent is eligible through employment, under the provisions of the federal Comprehensive Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA) or the provisions of section 376.892, RSMo, or for health coverage through an insurer or group health plan, any insurers, including group health plans as defined in section 607(1) of the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, offering, issuing, or renewing policies in this state on or after July 1, 1994, shall:

(1) Permit such parent to enroll under such coverage any such child who is otherwise eligible for such coverage, without regard to any enrollment season restrictions;

(2) Permit enrollment of a child under coverage upon application by the child's other parent [or by], the division of child support enforcement [or], the division of medical services, or the tribunal of another state, if the parent required by a court or administrative order to provide health coverage fails to make application to obtain coverage for such child;

(3) Not disenroll or eliminate coverage of a child unless [the insurer is provided satisfactory written evidence that]:

(a) The insurer is provided satisfactory written evidence that such court or administrative order is no longer in effect; or

(b) The insurer is provided satisfactory written evidence that the child is or will be enrolled in comparable health coverage through another insurer which will take effect no later than the effective date of the disenrollment; or

(c) The employer or union eliminates family health coverage for all of its employees or members; or

(d) Any available continuation coverage is not elected or the period of such coverage expires.

2. In any case in which a parent is required by a court or administrative order to provide medical coverage for a child, under any health benefit plan, as defined in section 454.600, and the parent is eligible for such health coverage through an employer doing business in Missouri, the employer or union shall:

(1) Permit such parent to enroll under such family coverage any such child who is otherwise eligible for such coverage, without regard to any enrollment season restrictions;

(2) Enroll a child under family coverage upon application by the child's other parent [or by], the division of child support enforcement [or], the division of medical services, or a tribunal of another state, if a parent is enrolled but fails to make application to obtain coverage of such child; and

(3) Not disenroll or eliminate coverage of any such child unless [the employer is provided satisfactory written evidence that]:

(a) The employer or union is provided satisfactory written evidence that such court or administrative order is no longer in effect; or

(b) The employer or union is provided satisfactory written evidence that the child is or will be enrolled in comparable health coverage through another insurer which will take effect not later than the effective date of such disenrollment; or

(c) The employer or union has eliminated family health coverage for all of its employees or members.

3. No insurer may impose any requirements on a state agency, which has been assigned the rights of an individual eligible for medical assistance under chapter 208, RSMo, and covered for health benefits from the insurer, that are different from requirements applicable to an agent or assignee of any other individual so covered.

4. All insurers shall in any case in which a child has health coverage through the insurer of a noncustodial parent:

(1) Provide such information to the custodial parent or legal guardian as may be necessary for the child to obtain benefits through such coverage;

(2) Permit the custodial parent or legal guardian, or provider, with the custodial parent's approval, to submit claims for covered services without the approval of the noncustodial parent; and

(3) Make payment on claims submitted in accordance with subdivision (2) of this subsection directly to the parent, the provider, or the division of medical services.

5. The division of medical services may garnish the wages, salary, or other employment income of, and require withholding amounts from state tax refunds, pursuant to section 143.783, RSMo, to any person who:

(1) Is required by court or administrative order to provide coverage of the costs of health services to a child who is eligible for medical assistance under Medicaid; and

(2) Has received payment from a third party for the costs of such services to such child, but has not used such payment to reimburse, as appropriate, either the other parent or guardian of such child or the provider of such services, to the extent necessary to reimburse the division of medical services for expenditures for such costs under its plan. However, claims for current or past due child support shall take priority over claims by the division of medical services.

6. The remedies for the collection and enforcement of medical support established in this section are in addition to and not in substitution for other remedies provided by law and apply without regard to when the order was entered.

Section B. Because immediate action is necessary to comply with federal mandates section A of this act is deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, welfare, peace, and safety, and is hereby declared to be an emergency act within the meaning of the constitution, and section A of this act shall be in full force and effect on July 1, 2002, or upon its passage and approval, whichever later occurs."; and

2. (1) The division of family services and its contractors shall provide foster parents with training, pre-service and in-service, and support. The division of family services and its contractors shall share all pertinent information about the child and the child's family, including but not limited to, the case plan with the foster parents to assist in determining if a child would be a proper placement. The division of family services and its contractors shall inform the foster parents of issues relative to the child that may jeopardize the health or safety of the foster family. The division of family services and its contractors shall arrange pre-placement visits, except in emergencies. The foster parents may ask questions about the child's case plan, encourage a placement or refuse a placement without reprisal from the caseworker or agency. After a placement, the division of family services shall update the foster parents as new information about the child is gathered. Foster parents shall be informed of upcoming meetings and staffings, and shall be allowed to participate, consistent with section 210.761. The division of family services shall establish reasonably accessible respite care for children in foster care for short periods of time, jointly determined by foster parents and the child's caseworker pursuant to section 210.545.

Foster parents shall follow all procedures defined by the division of family services for requesting and using respite care.

3. (1) Foster parents shall make decisions about the daily living concerns of the child, and shall be permitted to continue the practice of their own family values and routines while respecting the child's cultural heritage. The division of family services shall allow foster parents to help plan visitation between the child and the child's biological family.

(2) Foster parents shall provide care that is respectful of the child's cultural identity, values and needs. Foster parents shall recognize that the purpose of discipline is to teach, and ensure that it is administered in a humane and sensitive manner. Recognizing that visitation with family members is an important right, foster parents shall be flexible and cooperative in regard to family visits.

4. (1) Consistent with state laws and regulations, the state may provide, upon request by the foster parents, information about a child's progress after the child leaves foster care. Except in emergencies, foster parents shall be given advance notice consistent with division policy, and a written statement of the reasons before a child is removed from their care. If a child re-enters the foster care system, the child's foster parents shall be considered as a placement option. (2) Confidentiality rights of the child and the child's parents shall be respected and maintained. Foster parents shall inform the child's caseworker of their interest if a child re-enters the system. If a foster child becomes free for adoption and the foster parents desire to adopt the child, they shall inform the caseworker in a timely manner. If they do not choose to pursue adoption, foster parents shall make every effort to support and encourage the child's placement in a permanent home. When requesting removal of a child from their home, foster parents shall give reasonable advance notice, consistent with division policy, to the child's caseworker, except in emergency situations.

5. (1) Foster parents shall be informed by the court in a timely manner of all court hearings pertaining to a child in their care, and informed of their right to attend and participate, consistent with section 211.464, RSMo.

(2) Foster parents shall share any concerns regarding the case plan for a child in their care with the child's caseworker, as well as other members of the child welfare team, in a timely manner.

6. Foster parents shall have timely access to the child placement agency's appeals process, and shall be free from acts of retaliation when exercising the right to appeal. Foster parents shall know and follow the policies of the state, including the appeals procedure.

210.906. 1. Every child-care worker or elder-care worker hired on or after January 1, 2001, or personal-care worker hired on or after January 1, 2002, shall complete a registration form provided by the department. Any person employed as a child-care, elder-care or personal-care worker who fails to submit a completed registration form to the department of health and senior services as required by sections 210.900 to 210.936 without good cause, as determined by the department, is guilty of a class B misdemeanor.

3. The costs of the criminal background check may be paid by the individual applicant, or by the provider if the applicant is so employed, or for those applicants receiving public assistance, by the state through the terms of the self-sufficiency pact pursuant to section 208.325, RSMo. 5. Any person not required to register pursuant to the provisions of sections 210.900 to 210.936 may also be included in the registry if such person voluntarily applies to the department for registration and meets the requirements of this section and section 210.909, including submitting to the background checks in subsection 1 of section 210.909.

[5.] 6. The provisions of sections 210.900 to 210.936 shall not extend to related child care, related elder care or related personal care."; and

Further amend said bill, page 2, Section 210.950, line 16, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

"211.183. 1. In juvenile court proceedings regarding the removal of a child from his or her home, the court's order shall include a determination of whether the division of family services has made reasonable efforts to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of the child and, after removal, to make it possible for the child to return home. If the first contact with the family occurred during an emergency in which the child could not safely remain at home even with reasonable in-home services, the division shall be deemed to have made reasonable efforts to prevent or eliminate the need for removal.

2. "Reasonable efforts" means the exercise of reasonable diligence and care by the division to utilize all available services related to meeting the needs of the juvenile and the family. In determining reasonable efforts to be made and in making such reasonable efforts, the child's present and ongoing health and safety shall be the paramount consideration.

3. In support of its determination of whether reasonable efforts have been made, the court shall enter findings, including a brief description of what preventive or reunification efforts were made and why further efforts could or could not have prevented or shortened the separation of the family. The division shall have the burden of demonstrating reasonable efforts.

4. The juvenile court may authorize the removal of the child even if the preventive and reunification efforts of the division have not been reasonable, but further efforts could not permit the child to remain at home.

5. Before a child may be removed from the parent, guardian, or custodian of the child by order of a juvenile court, excluding commitments to the division of youth services, the court shall in its orders:

- (1) State whether removal of the child is necessary to protect the child and the reasons therefor;
- (2) Describe the services available to the family before removal of the child, including in-home services;
- (3) Describe the efforts made to provide those services relevant to the needs of the family before the removal of the child;
- (4) State why efforts made to provide family services described did not prevent removal of the child; and
- (5) State whether efforts made to prevent removal of the child were reasonable, based upon the needs of the family and child.

6. If continuation of reasonable efforts, as described in this section, is determined by the division to be inconsistent with establishing a permanent placement for the child, the division shall take such steps as are deemed necessary by the division, including seeking modification of any court order to modify the permanency plan for the child.

7. The division shall not be required to make reasonable efforts, as defined in this section, but has the discretion to make reasonable efforts if a court of competent jurisdiction has determined that:

- (1) The parent has subjected the child or any child of the parent to a severe act or recurrent acts of physical, emotional or sexual abuse toward the child, including an act of incest, or the acts were committed by another person under circumstances that indicate that the parent knew or should have known that such acts were being committed toward the child or any child of the parent; or
- (2) The parent has:
 - (a) Committed murder of another child of the parent;
 - (b) Committed voluntary manslaughter of another child of the parent;
 - (c) Aided or abetted, attempted, conspired or solicited to commit such a murder or voluntary manslaughter; or

(d) Committed a felony assault that resulted in serious bodily injury to the child or to another child of the parent; or

(3) The parent's parental rights to a sibling have been involuntarily terminated.

8. If the court determines that reasonable efforts, as described in this section, are not required to be made by the division, the court shall hold a permanency hearing within thirty days after the court has made such determination. The division shall complete whatever steps are necessary to finalize the permanent placement of the child.

9. The division may concurrently engage in reasonable efforts, as described in this section, while engaging in such other measures as are deemed appropriate by the division to establish a permanent placement for the child."; and

Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

FORTY-FIRST DAY--TUESDAY, MARCH 19, 2002

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

President Maxwell in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"God has called us to a share in his creative power, and our desire is an element in the creation of the world of tomorrow." (J.H. Oldham)

Gracious Lord, so much of what we do today will not be of benefit to our people until some future time, so help us to discern the needs of today to direct our resources and laws for both a near future time and into that future some of us will not see. Bless our best efforts, O Lord, with Your spiritual presence and provide us with a vision into that "world of tomorrow." In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 57

WHEREAS, sustained investment in electric, natural gas, water sewer and heating utility infrastructure is vital to the economic vitality and well-being of the State of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, Missouri electric, natural gas, water sewer and heating utility companies compete with utility companies in other states for the capital necessary to sustain investment in utility infrastructure in Missouri; and

WHEREAS, Missouri electric, natural gas, water sewer and heating utility companies must achieve reasonable rates of return as compared to the rates of return achieved by utility companies in other states to ensure sustained investment in utility infrastructure in Missouri; and

WHEREAS, the utility regulatory process in Missouri, as it applies to electric, natural gas, water sewer and heating corporations, is governed primarily by Chapter 393, RSMo, which is largely unchanged since original enactment in 1913; and

WHEREAS, the potential for the deregulation of utilities in Missouri has received substantial legislative study in recent years, while the ongoing utility regulatory process and procedure has not enjoyed broad legislative evaluation; and

WHEREAS, the utility regulatory process must be periodically evaluated so as to promote the interests of fairness and balance among all constituencies, including consumers and shareholders of regulated utility companies, by addressing policy and practice advances in areas including, but not limited to, non-traditional regulatory rate plans, performance-based regulatory rate plans, incentive regulatory rate plans, capital recovery schedules, consistency of utility regulatory policy with generally accepted accounting principles, consistency of utility regulatory policy with financial accounting standards, consistency of utility regulatory policy with generally accepted engineering principles, communication between and among participants in the regulatory process, time schedules for the initiation and conclusion of proceedings before utility regulatory agencies, the role, function and needs of the Public Service Commission, the role, function and needs of the Office of Public Counsel and the overall structure and cost of governmental utility regulatory agencies and the utility regulatory process:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Senate of the Ninety-first General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby establish the Joint Legislative Committee on Utility Regulation and Infrastructure Investment; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that said Committee be composed of five members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President Pro Tem and five members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that said Committee conduct in-depth studies and make appropriate recommendations concerning: how the utility regulatory process and the results thereof in Missouri in regard to electric, natural gas, water sewer and heating utility companies compare to the utility regulatory process and the results thereof in other states; and how the utility regulatory process in Missouri in regard to electric, natural gas, water sewer and heating utility companies can, or should, be modernized to be more efficient and effective, ensure sustained investment in utility infrastructure and promote the interests of fairness and balance among all constituencies, including consumers and shareholders of regulated utility companies; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that said Committee present a final report, together with its recommendations for any legislative action it deems necessary for submission to the General Assembly prior to the commencement of the First Regular Session of the Ninety-second General Assembly; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that said Committee may solicit any input and information necessary to fulfill its obligations from the Missouri Public Service Commission, the Department of Economic Development, the Office of Public Counsel, political subdivisions of this state, energy utilities, water utilities, heating corporations and representatives of energy and water customer groups; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that House Research, the Committee on Legislative Research and Senate Research shall provide such legal, research, clerical, technical and bill drafting services as the committee may require in the performance of its duties; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the actual and necessary expenses of the Committee, its members and any staff personnel assigned to the Committee incurred in attending meetings of the Committee or any subcommittee thereof shall be paid from the Joint Contingent Fund.

[4.] 5. A producer member shall submit to the authority an application for the tax credit authorized by this section on a form provided by the authority. If the producer member meets all criteria prescribed by this section and is approved by the authority, the authority shall issue a tax credit certificate in the appropriate amount. Tax credits issued pursuant to this section shall initially be claimed [for] in the taxable year in which the producer member contributes capital to an eligible new generation cooperative or eligible new generation processing entity. Any amount of credit that exceeds the tax due for a producer member's taxable year may be carried back to any of the producer member's three prior taxable years and carried forward to any of the producer member's five subsequent taxable years. Tax credits issued pursuant to this section may be assigned, transferred, sold or otherwise conveyed and the new owner of the tax credit shall have the same rights in the credit as the producer member. Whenever a certificate of tax credit is assigned, transferred, sold or otherwise conveyed, a notarized endorsement shall be filed with the authority specifying the name and address of the new owner of the tax credit or the value of the credit.

[5.] 6. Ten percent of the tax credits authorized pursuant to this section initially shall be offered in any fiscal year to small capital projects. If any portion of the ten percent of tax credits offered to small capital costs projects is unused in any calendar year, then the unused portion of tax credits may be offered to employee-qualified capital projects and large capital projects. If the authority receives more applications for tax credits for small capital projects than tax credits are authorized therefor, then the authority, by rule, shall determine the method of distribution of tax credits authorized for small capital projects.

[6.] 7. Ninety percent of the tax credits authorized pursuant to this section initially shall be offered in any fiscal year to employee-qualified capital projects and large capital projects. If any portion of the ninety percent of tax credits offered to employee-qualified capital projects and large capital costs projects is unused in any fiscal year, then the unused portion of tax credits may be offered to small capital projects. The maximum tax credit allowed per employee-qualified capital project is three million dollars and the maximum tax credit allowed per large capital project is one million five hundred thousand dollars. If the authority approves the maximum tax credit allowed for any employee-qualified capital project or any large capital project, then the authority, by rule, shall determine the method of distribution of such maximum tax credit. In addition, if the authority receives more tax credit applications for employee-qualified capital projects and large capital projects than the amount of tax credits authorized therefor, then the authority, by rule, shall determine the method of distribution of tax credits authorized for employee-qualified capital projects and large capital projects."; and

Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

Senator Cauthorn offered SA 5:

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 5

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bills Nos. 837, 866, 972 and 990, Page 1, Section A, Line 4 of said page, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"142.028. 1. As used in this section, the following terms mean:

(1) "Fuel ethanol", one hundred ninety-eight proof ethanol denatured in conformity with the United States Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms' regulations and fermented and distilled in a facility whose principal (over fifty percent) feed stock is cereal grain or cereal grain by-products;

(2) "Fuel ethanol blends", a mixture of ninety percent gasoline and ten percent fuel ethanol in which the gasoline portion of the blend or the finished blend meets the American Society for Testing and Materials - specification number D-439;

(3) "Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer", any producer of fuel ethanol whose principal place of business and facility for the fermentation and distillation of fuel ethanol is located within the state of Missouri and which has made formal application, posted a bond, and conformed to the requirements of this section.

2. The "Missouri Qualified Fuel Ethanol Producer Incentive Fund" is hereby created and subject to appropriations shall be used to provide economic subsidies to Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producers pursuant to this section. The director of the department of agriculture shall administer the fund pursuant to this section.

3. A Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer shall be eligible for a monthly grant from the fund, except that a Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer shall only be eligible for the grant for a total of sixty months unless such producer during those sixty months failed, due to a lack of appropriations, to receive the full amount from the fund for which they were eligible, in which case such producers shall continue to be eligible for up to twenty-four additional months or until they have received the maximum amount of funding for which they were eligible during the original sixty month time period. The amount of the grant is determined by calculating the estimated gallons of qualified fuel ethanol production to be produced from Missouri agricultural products for the succeeding calendar month, as certified by the department of agriculture, and applying such figure to the per-gallon incentive credit established in this subsection. Each Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer shall be eligible for a total grant in any [calendar] fiscal year equal to twenty cents per gallon for the first twelve and one-half million gallons of qualified fuel ethanol produced from Missouri agricultural products in the [calendar] fiscal year plus five cents per gallon for the next twelve and one-half million gallons of qualified fuel ethanol produced from Missouri agricultural products in the [calendar] fiscal year. All such qualified fuel ethanol produced by a Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer in excess of twenty-five million gallons shall not be applied to the computation of a grant pursuant to this subsection. The department of agriculture shall pay all grants for a particular month by the fifteenth day after receipt and approval of the application described in subsection 4 of this section. If actual production of qualified fuel ethanol during a particular month either exceeds or is less than that estimated by a Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer, the department of agriculture shall adjust the subsequent monthly grant by paying additional amount or subtracting the amount in deficiency by using the calculation described in this subsection.

4. In order for a Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer to obtain a grant from the fund for a particular month, an application for such funds shall be received no later than fifteen days prior to the first day of the month for which the grant is sought. The application shall include:

- (1) The location of the Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer;
- (2) The average number of citizens of Missouri employed by the Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer in the preceding quarter, if applicable;
- (3) The number of bushels of Missouri agricultural commodities used by the Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer in the production of fuel ethanol in the preceding quarter;
- (4) The number of gallons of qualified fuel ethanol the producer expects to manufacture during the month for which the grant is applied;
- (5) A copy of the qualified fuel ethanol producer license required pursuant to subsection 5 of this section, name and address of surety company, and amount of bond to be posted pursuant to subsection 5 of this section; and
- (6) Any other information deemed necessary by the department of agriculture to adequately ensure that such grants shall be made only to Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producers.

5. The director of the department of agriculture, in consultation with the department of revenue, shall promulgate rules and regulations necessary for the administration of the provisions of this section. The director shall also establish procedures for bonding Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producers. Each Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer who attempts to obtain moneys pursuant to this section shall be bonded in an amount not to exceed the estimated maximum monthly grant to be issued to such Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer.

6. [No rule or portion of a rule promulgated under the authority of this section shall become effective unless it has been promulgated pursuant to the provisions of section 536.024, RSMo.] Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. This section and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2002, shall be invalid and void."; and

Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

Senator Cauthorn moved that the above amendment be adopted, which motion prevailed.

Senator Cauthorn moved that SS for SCS for SBs 837, 866, 972 and 990, as amended, be adopted, which motion prevailed.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the Ninety-first General Assembly, Second Regular Session, that the rules of the Senate be amended to read as follows:

WHEREAS, in 1993, the General Assembly enacted Senate Bill No. 251 containing the provision now codified at Section 287.135, RSMo, which requires the Department of Insurance to promulgate rules to determine the criteria by which a workers' compensation insurer may reimburse fees charged by a managed care organization ("MCO"); and

WHEREAS, the Department of Insurance promulgated Rule 20 CSR 500-6.700 which would become effective thirty days after publication in the Code of State Regulations; and

WHEREAS, the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules has held at least two hearings on previous rules proposed by the Department; and

WHEREAS, nearly ten years have passed since the Department of Insurance was directed to promulgate rules to determine the criteria by which workers' compensation insurers may reimburse fees charged by managed care organizations; and

WHEREAS, numerous managed care organizations were organized for the purpose of providing services in workers' compensation matters; and

WHEREAS, numerous managed care organizations have suffered financial losses due to their denied claims for services; and

WHEREAS, the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules held a hearing on March 7, 2002, and by a unanimous vote disapproved Rule 20 CSR 500-6.700 and recommends that the General Assembly act to disapprove and suspend Rule 20 CSR 500-6.700; and

WHEREAS, the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules directed the Department of Insurance to promulgate an emergency rule and a proposed rule with a sunset of December 31, 2002, which would provide a mechanism to pay managed care organizations, including those whose claims have been denied since the passage of Senate Bill No. 251 in 1993, based on the absence of a rule as required pursuant to Section 287.135, RSMo; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Insurance agreed to abide by the directions of the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules relating to the promulgation of an emergency and proposed rule; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Insurance to date has failed and refused to abide by the directions of the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules relating to the promulgation of an emergency and proposed rule:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 59

WHEREAS, in 1998, the Commissioner of Major League Baseball formed the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics to study whether revenue disparities among professional baseball clubs are seriously damaging competitive balance in the league and to determine whether a lack of competitive balance in the league, if any, has had an adverse impact on the ability of the existing professional baseball clubs to grow the game of professional baseball, secure new facilities and produce operating stability; and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner also directed the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics to explain its analysis and produce recommendations in the form of structural reforms to address the problems, if the Commission found a competitive imbalance and concluded that the competitive imbalance problem is related to structural characteristics of baseball's economic system and poses a threat to the game; and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics performed an extensive 18-month long investigation into these matters and produced an 87-page report of its findings, conclusions and recommendations, to wit: The Report of the Independent Members of the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics (July 2000); and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics concluded that "large and growing revenue disparities exist and are causing problems of chronic competitive imbalance" in the professional game of baseball; and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics concluded that these problems became "substantially worse" during the five-season timeframe of their study and investigation (1995-1999) and "seem likely to remain severe unless Major League Baseball ("MLB") undertakes remedial actions proportional to the problem"; and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics concluded that "the problem of competitive balance is a product of MLB's economic structure, and that this structure is adversely affecting the ability of most clubs to increase revenues and achieve operating stability"; and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics concluded that "the limited revenue sharing and payroll tax that were approved as part of MLB's 1996 Collective Bargaining Agreement with the Major League Baseball Players Association ("MLBPA") have produced neither the intended moderating of payroll disparities nor improved competitive balance"; and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics concluded that "in a majority of MLB markets, the cost to clubs of trying to be competitive is causing escalation of ticket and concession prices, jeopardizing MLB's traditional position as the affordable family spectator sport"; and

WHEREAS, based upon its conclusions, the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics made several recommendations to address the economic ills of professional baseball, to wit:

(1) Revenue Sharing--MLB should share at least 40 percent, and perhaps as much as 50 percent, of all member clubs' local revenue, less local ballpark expenses as uniformly defined; and

(2) Competitive Balance Tax--MLB should levy a 50 percent competitive balance tax on club payrolls that are above a fixed threshold of $84 million and all clubs should be encouraged to have a minimum payroll of $40 million; and

(3) Central Fund Distributions--MLB should use unequal distribution of new Central Fund revenues to improve competitive balance, creating a "Commissioner's Pool" that is allocated to assist low-revenue clubs in improving their competitiveness and in meeting the minimum payroll obligation of $40 million; and

(4) Competitive Balance Draft--MLB should conduct an annual "Competitive Balance Draft" of players in which the weakest eight clubs would have a unique opportunity to select non-40-man roster players from the organizations of the eight clubs that qualified for the playoffs; and

(5) Rule 4 Draft--MLB should implement reforms in the Rule 4 draft; and

(6) Franchise Relocations--MLB should utilize strategic franchise relocations to address the competitive issues facing the game; and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics concluded that many of their recommendations "cannot be implemented unilaterally by MLB and its member clubs", but also require the concurrence and collaboration of the MLBPA; and

WHEREAS, in early December of 2001, the Commissioner testified before Congress that the economic climate of Major League Baseball is continuing to deteriorate and that the thirty existing professional clubs had a combined loss in excess of $519 million during 2001; and

WHEREAS, as a result of the extremely poor economic performance of Major League Baseball throughout the past several years due to the structural flaws in baseball's economic system, the Commissioner recently called for the elimination of two professional baseball clubs from the thirty-member league, an action that has not been considered by Major League Baseball in over 100 years; and

WHEREAS, the industry of professional baseball is in severe turmoil with a possible players' strike and owners' lock-out being seriously considered and with several lawsuits having recently been filed against Major League Baseball concerning the issue of contraction and with several bills having recently been filed in Congress concerning the issue of baseball's exemption from federal antitrust laws:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-First General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urge Major League Baseball and the Major League Baseball Players Association to address the serious problems existing within the current economic structure of professional baseball and take substantial steps toward implementation of all or a substantial portion of the recommendations set forth in The Report of the Independent Members of the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics (July 2000); and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri General Assembly, hereby urge the ownership groups of the St. Louis Cardinals and the Kansas City Royals, along with the players' representatives of all players on those two Missouri-based teams, to support and work in furtherance of the implementation of all or a substantial portion of the recommendations set forth in The Report of the Independent Members of the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics (July 2000); and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri General Assembly hereby declare that under no circumstances should Major League Baseball owners be permitted to use team elimination/contraction (Major League Baseball fielding fewer teams than the number that participated in the 2001 season) as a means to achieve or make progress towards the goals outlined in the Blue Ribbon Report; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri General Assembly, hereby declare their support for a moratorium on providing state funding for the construction of a new professional baseball stadium in St. Louis and for a moratorium on providing increased state funding for the existing professional baseball stadium in Kansas City until such time as Major League Baseball, in conjunction with the Major League Baseball Players Association, takes substantial steps toward implementation of all or a substantial portion of the recommendations set forth in The Report of the Independent Members of the Commissioner's Blue Ribbon Panel on Baseball Economics (July 2000); and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for Major League Baseball, the Major League Baseball Players Association, the St. Louis Cardinals, L.P., and the Kansas City Royals Baseball Corporation.

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 1

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 1059, Page 9, Section 160.720, Line 25, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"(4) Permit a metropolitan district that is implementing a program of academic improvement in a school or schools identified pursuant to a settlement agreement for a desegregation lawsuit to submit the elements of the accountability compliance statement required in subdivisions (1) to (3) of this subsection for review for possible waiver solely in regard to the schools identified for academic improvement pursuant to the settlement agreement; provided, however, that the department of elementary and secondary education shall meet with any district covered by the provisions of this subdivision prior to the district submitting any element of an accountability compliance statement, so that the department may identify elements of the settlement agreement academic improvement plan that are substantially similar to the requirements contained in this section, and the department shall advise such district if, based on its review, any further plan or reporting of such plans or elements is required."

Senator Dougherty moved that the above amendment be adopted, which motion prevailed.

Senator Dougherty offered SA 2:

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 2

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 1059, Page 1, Section A, Line 4, by inserting after all of said line the following:

Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

The point of order was referred to the President Pro Tem who ruled it well taken.

For any school year in which full funding of the school aid formula appears to be in doubt after all appropriations bills are truly agreed and finally passed, the house budget chair and the senate appropriations chair shall send a joint letter to the commissioner of education by August first, notifying the department of elementary and secondary education of the likelihood of less than full funding and requesting that the department not enforce subsections 2 to 9 of this section unless and until the department's calculations for the first "live" school aid payment of the school year show that the formula will have a proration factor on line 1(b) of no less than 1.0."

Senator Stoll offered SA 4:

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 4

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 1059, Page 16, Section 161.092, Line 24, by inserting after all of said line the following:

- "163.036. 1. In computing the amount of state aid a school district is entitled to receive under section 163.031, a school district may use an estimate of the number of eligible pupils for the ensuing year, the number of eligible pupils for the immediately preceding year or the number of eligible pupils for the second preceding school year, whichever is greater. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 3 of this section, any error made in the apportionment of state aid because of a difference between the actual number of eligible pupils and the estimated number of eligible pupils shall be corrected as provided in section 163.091, except that if the amount paid to a district estimating eligible pupils exceeds the amount to which the district was actually entitled by more than five percent, interest at the rate of six percent shall be charged on the excess and shall be added to the amount to be deducted from the district's apportionment the next succeeding year.
2. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection 1 of this section or any other provision of law, the state board of education shall make an adjustment for the immediately preceding year for any increase in the actual number of eligible pupils above the number on which the state aid in section 163.031 was calculated. Said adjustment shall be made in the manner providing for correction of errors under subsection 1 of this section.
3. (1) For any district which has, for at least five years immediately preceding the year in which the error is discovered, adopted a calendar for the school term in which elementary schools are in session for twelve months of each calendar year, any error made in the apportionment of state aid to such district because of a difference between the actual number of eligible pupils and the estimated number of eligible pupils shall be corrected as provided in section 163.091 and subsection 1 of this section, except that if the amount paid exceeds the amount to which the district was actually entitled by more than five percent and the district provides written application to the state board requesting that the deductions be made pursuant to subdivision (2) of this subsection, then the amounts shall be deducted pursuant to subdivision (2) of this subsection.

(2) For deductions made pursuant to this subdivision, interest at the rate of six percent shall be charged on the excess and shall be included in the amount deducted and the total amount of such excess plus accrued interest shall be deducted from the district's apportionment in equal monthly amounts beginning with the succeeding school year and extending for a period of months specified by the district in its written request and no longer than sixty months.

4. For the purposes of distribution of state school aid pursuant to section 163.031, a school district may elect to use the district's equalized assessed valuation for the preceding year, or an estimate of the current year's assessed valuation if the current year's equalized assessed valuation is estimated to be more than ten percent less than the district's equalized assessed valuation for the preceding year. A district shall give prior notice to the department of its intention to use the current year's assessed valuation pursuant to this subsection. Any error made in the apportionment of state aid because of a difference between the actual equalized assessed valuation for the current year and the estimated equalized assessed valuation for the current year shall be corrected as provided in section 163.091, except that if the amount paid to a district estimating current equalized assessed valuation exceeds the amount to which the district was actually entitled, interest at the rate of six percent shall be charged on the excess and shall be added to the amount to be deducted from the district's apportionment the next succeeding year.

5. For the purposes of distribution of state school aid pursuant to section 163.031, a school district with ten percent or more of its assessed valuation owned by one person or corporation as commercial and/or personal property and this person or corporation is delinquent in its property tax payment, may elect, after receiving notice from the county clerk on or before March fifteenth, except in the year enacted, that more than ten percent of its current taxes due the preceding December thirty-first by a single property owner are delinquent, to use on line 2 of the state aid formula the district's equalized assessed valuation for the preceding year or the actual assessed valuation of the year for which the taxes are delinquent less the assessed valuation of property for which the current year's property tax is delinquent. To qualify for use of the actual assessed valuation of the year for which the taxes are delinquent less the assessed valuation of property for which the current year's property tax is delinquent, a district must notify the department of elementary and secondary education on or before April first, except in the year enacted, of the current year amount of delinquent taxes, the assessed valuation of such property for which delinquent taxes are owed and the total assessed valuation of the district for the year in which the taxes were due but not paid. Any district giving such notice to the department of elementary and secondary education shall present verification of the accuracy of such notice obtained from the clerk of the county levying delinquent taxes. When any of the delinquent taxes identified by such notice are paid during a four year period following the due date the county clerk shall give notice to the district and the department of elementary and secondary education and state aid paid to the district shall be reduced by an amount equal to the delinquent taxes received plus interest. The reduction in state aid shall occur over a period not to exceed five years and the interest rate on excess state aid not refunded shall be six percent annually.

6. If a district receives state aid based on equalized assessed valuation as determined by subsection 5 of this section and if prior to such notice the district was paid state aid pursuant to subdivision (2) of subsection 5 of section 163.031, the amount of state aid paid during the year of such notice and the first year following shall equal the sum of state aid paid pursuant to line 1 minus line 10 as defined in subsections 1, 2, 3 and 6 of section 163.031 plus the difference between the state aid amount being paid before such notice minus the amount of state aid the district would have received pursuant to line 1 minus line 10 as defined in subsections 1, 2, 3 and 6 of section 163.031 before such notice. To be eligible to receive state aid based on this provision the district must levy during the first year following such notice at least the maximum levy permitted school districts by article X, section 11(b) of the Missouri Constitution and have a voluntary rollback of its tax rate which is no greater than one cent per one hundred dollars assessed valuation.

Section B. Because the funding of free public schools is a prominent responsibility of this state, the repeal and reenactment of section 163.036 of this act is deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, welfare, peace and safety, and is hereby declared to be an emergency act within the meaning of the constitution, and the repeal and reenactment of section 163.036 of this act shall be in full force and effect upon its passage and

Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

Senator Steelman offered SA 5:

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 5

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 1059, Page 18, Section 166.260, Line 17, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"170.014. 1. This section shall be known as the "Reading Instruction Act" and is enacted to ensure that all public schools establish reading programs based in scientific research and offer explicit systematic phonics instruction in grades kindergarten through three as a significant component of a program of balanced reading instruction and that all new teachers who teach reading in grades kindergarten through three receive adequate training in the teaching of explicit systematic phonics.

2. As used in this section, "explicit systematic phonics", means the methodology of pronouncing and reading words by learning the phonetic sound association of individual letters, letter groups and syllables and the principles governing these associations. Reading instruction using implied recognition of words or partial words through the use of pictures or other references other than explicit pronunciation of phonetic letter combinations shall not be admitted as a substitute in compliance with this provisions.

3. CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senator Kennedy offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 60

WHEREAS, the state of Missouri recognizes the critical importance of information technology to its government, industry and local economy; and

WHEREAS, high technology has made enormous contributions to the state's economic growth and competitiveness; and

WHEREAS, the high technology industry is one of the most vibrant sectors of Missouri's economy, with over 3,670 high technology companies employing 21,300 Missouri residents and generating over $1 billion in annual wages; and

WHEREAS, high technology jobs are high-paying, high-skill, dynamic and adaptable, with the average Missouri high technology worker earning $50,000 per year; and

WHEREAS, the positive economic impact of high technology in Missouri does not end with workers in well-paid, high technology jobs, but extends to the businesses that provide goods and services to high technology companies, resulting in an overall impact of 66,100 jobs and more than $2.4 billion in wages for Missouri residents; and

WHEREAS, software piracy represents one of the greatest threats to the continued growth of Missouri's high technology industry, with software piracy costing the Missouri economy nearly 1,900 jobs and $80 million in wages annually; and

WHEREAS, software piracy robs $15.1 million annually from the state of Missouri in lost tax revenues; and

WHEREAS, software piracy can have a serious chilling effect on creativity, innovation and profitability in the vital high technology sector of Missouri's economy; and

WHEREAS, counterfeit and other forms of pirated software expose consumers, including state agencies, to the risk of computer viruses, reduced technical support and other problems that prevent the efficient operation of information systems; and

WHEREAS, in recognition of the destructive impact of software piracy on the Missouri economy and consumers, this General Assembly is committed to developing a comprehensive, statewide response to combat the use of unlicensed software in all state agencies and promote sound management of state information systems:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Senate of the Ninety-first General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby recommend that the Governor issue an Executive Order establishing the following:

Section 1. Policy. It shall be the policy of the state of Missouri that each state agency shall work diligently to prevent and combat computer software piracy in order to give effect to copyrights associated with computer software by observing the relevant provisions of federal law, including the U.S. Copyright Act, and applicable licensing restrictions.

(1) Each agency shall adopt procedures to ensure that the agency does not acquire, reproduce, distribute or transmit computer software in violation of U.S. copyright laws and applicable licensing restrictions.

(2) Each agency shall establish procedures to ensure that the agency has present on its computers and uses only computer software not in violation of U.S. copyright laws and applicable licensing restrictions. These procedures shall include:

(a) Preparing agency inventories of the software present on its computers;

(b) Determining what computer software the agency has the authorization to use; and

(c) Developing and maintaining adequate record-keeping systems.

(3) Each agency shall require its contractors and recipients of state financial assistance, including grants and loan guarantee assistance, to certify that they have appropriate systems and controls in place to ensure that state funds are not used to acquire, operate or maintain computer software in violation of U.S. copyright laws or applicable licensing restrictions. If an agency becomes aware that contractors, grantees or other recipients of state financial assistance are using state funds to acquire, operate or maintain computer software in violation of U.S. copyright laws or applicable licensing restrictions, the agency shall take such corrective measures as the agency head deems appropriate and consistent with the requirements of law.

(4) The Office of Information Technology shall develop appropriate language for inclusion in state contracts to prohibit the use of state funds for the acquisition, operation or maintenance of computer software in violation of U.S. copyright laws or applicable licensing restrictions. Such language shall be required in all state contracts involving the purchase or utilization of computer software in the performance of such contracts.

(5) State agencies shall ensure that budget proposals relating to computer and data processing needs include adequate resources for the purpose of acquiring adequate computer software and licenses to meet those needs.

(6) State agencies shall cooperate fully in implementing this order and shall share information as appropriate that may be useful in combating the use of computer software in violation of applicable U.S. copyright laws or applicable licensing restrictions.

Section 2. Responsibilities of Agency Heads. In connection with the acquisition and use of computer software, the head of each state agency shall:

(1) Ensure agency compliance with U.S. copyright laws protecting computer software and with the provisions of this order to ensure that only authorized computer software is acquired for and used on the agency's computers;

(2) Utilize performance measures as recommended by the Office of Information Technology pursuant to Section 3 of this order to assess the agency's compliance with this order;

(3) Educate appropriate agency personnel regarding copyrights protecting computer software and the policies and procedures adopted by the agency to honor them; and

(4) Ensure that the policies and practices of the agency related to copyrights protecting computer software are adequate and fully implement the policies set forth in this order.

Section 3. Office of Information Technology. The Office of Information Technology ("OIT") shall be the principal interagency forum to improve state agency practices regarding the acquisition and use of computer software, and monitoring and combating the use of unauthorized computer software. OIT shall provide advice and make recommendations to state agencies and to the Chief Information Officer regarding appropriate government-wide measures to carry out this order. OIT shall issue its initial recommendations within 6 months of the date of this order.

Section 4. Chief Information Officer. The Chief Information Officer ("CIO") shall utilize appropriate oversight mechanisms to foster agency compliance with the policies set forth in this order. In carrying out these responsibilities, the CIO shall consider any recommendations made by OIT under Section 3 of this order regarding practices and policies to be instituted on a government-wide basis to carry out this order.

Section 5. Definition. "State agency" or "agency" shall include all agencies, boards, and commissions under the Governor's jurisdiction.

Section 6. Judicial Review. This order is intended only to improve the internal management of the executive branch. It does not create any right or benefit, substantive or procedural, at law or in equity by a party against the state of Missouri, its agencies or instrumentalities, its officers or employees, or any other person.

Section 7. Severability. The invalidity of any portion of this order shall not affect the validity of the remainder thereof.

Section 8. Effective Date. This order is effective immediately and shall remain in effect until rescinded by the Governor; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution for the Governor of Missouri.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

FORTY-NINTH DAY--MONDAY, APRIL 8, 2002

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Senator Gross in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"And that very night the Lord appeared to him and said, "I am the God of your father Abraham.'" (Genesis 26:23)

Lord God, as You spoke to Your servant Isaac, speak plainly to us so we, too, may hear Your voice and experience Your love and caring for us. Teach us to love others as You love us and do those things that express that love in concrete ways. And we would pray for Mary Lois Slanker at the death of her husband, Danny. Bless her and her family with Your comforting presence and grace during this time of grief. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

A quorum being established, the Senate proceeded with its business.

The Journals for Thursday, April 4, 2002, and Friday, April 5, 2002, were read and approved.

REMONSTRANCES

SENATE REMONSTRANCE NO. 1

WHEREAS, the Missouri General Assembly, in 1987, took up and passed Senate Bill 74, the Domestic Product Procurement Act (Buy American), which was designed to ensure that most purchases and leases of manufactured goods or commodities obtained by public agencies be manufactured or produced in the United States; and

WHEREAS, Missouri is the number two auto-producing state in the nation, with plants representing the three major American auto manufacturers located here; and

WHEREAS, The Missouri auto industry employs more than 33,400 people, some 18,200 of which are employed in the assembly of motor vehicles in one of the big three auto plants located in the St. Louis and Kansas City areas, and who earn more than $410 million annually; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Department of Transportation (MODOT) chose to purchase a total of 18 Toyota Priuses in apparent violation of state law; and

WHEREAS, the State Attorney General advised MODOT in February of this year that it should walk away from the deal with Toyota because it appeared to violate the Domestic Product Procurement Act; and

WHEREAS, the appointed MODOT Commission was not formally apprised of this decision to purchase these foreign cars by departmental staff because, according to staff, the only approval the Commission needed to give was when it approved the department's budget; and

WHEREAS, this attitude by MODOT staff toward the Commission, which is constitutionally assigned the responsibility of overseeing the operations of MODOT, appears to be condescending and bordering on insubordination; and

WHEREAS, in the wake of the tragic events of September 11, 2001, CNN Headline News announced the contributions of various automobile companies to the relief effort, including: Ford - $1 million to American Red Cross matching employee contributions of the same number, plus 10 Excursions to the New York Fire Department, as well as ER response team services and office space to displaced government employees; General Motors - $1 million to Red Cross matching employee contributions of the same number, plus a fleet of vans, suvs and trucks; and Daimler-Chrysler - $10 million to support of the children and victims of the attack; and

WHEREAS, in the same CNN Headline News report, Toyota's contribution in response to the attacks was listed as "zero" despite claims of high sales in July and August 2001; however, condolences were posted on the website:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Missouri Senate that the Senate herewith remonstrates against the staff at MODOT which authorized these expenditures, particularly Director Henry Hungerbeeler, who has shown no remorse for his decision made without direct authorization from the MODOT Commission, for its cumulative failure to obey the laws of this state and to exercise proper and logical judgment while spending valuable tax dollars; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to send a copy of this remonstrance to Director Hungerbeeler to be placed on display at a prominent location so that the department employees and the public may review its content and may modify future actions accordingly.

"160.518. 1. Consistent with the provisions contained in section 160.526, the state board of education shall develop a statewide assessment system that provides maximum flexibility for local school districts to determine the degree to which students in the public schools of the state are proficient in the knowledge, skills and competencies adopted by such board pursuant to subsection 1 of section 160.514. The statewide assessment system shall assess problem solving, analytical ability, evaluation, creativity and application ability in the different content areas and shall be performance-based to identify what students know, as well as what they are able to do, and shall enable teachers to evaluate actual academic performance. The assessment system shall neither promote nor prohibit rote memorization and shall not include existing versions of tests approved for use pursuant to the provisions of section 160.257, nor enhanced versions of such tests. The statewide assessment shall measure, where appropriate by grade level, a student's knowledge of academic subjects including, but not limited to, reading skills, writing skills, mathematics skills, world and American history, forms of government, geography and science.

2. The assessment system shall only permit the academic performance of students in each school in the state to be tracked against prior academic performance in the same school.

3. The state board of education shall suggest criteria for a school to demonstrate that its students learn the knowledge, skills and competencies at exemplary levels worthy of imitation by students in other schools in the state and nation. "Exemplary levels" shall be measured by the assessment system developed pursuant to subsection 1 of this section, or until said assessment is available, by indicators approved for such use by the state board of education. The provisions of other law to the contrary notwithstanding, the commissioner of education may, upon request of the school district, present a plan for the waiver of rules and regulations to any such school, to be known as "Outstanding Schools Waivers", consistent with the provisions of subsection 4 of this section.

4. For any school that meets the criteria established by the state board of education for three successive school years pursuant to the provisions of subsection 3 of this section, by August first following the third such school year, the commissioner of education shall present a plan to the superintendent of the school district in which such school is located for the waiver of rules and regulations to promote flexibility in the operations of the school and to enhance and encourage efficiency in the delivery of instructional services. The provisions of other law to the contrary notwithstanding, the plan presented to the superintendent shall provide a summary waiver, with no conditions, for the pupil testing requirements pursuant to section 160.257, in the school. Further, the provisions of other law to the contrary notwithstanding, the plan shall detail a means for the waiver of requirements otherwise imposed on the school related to the authority of the state board of education to classify school districts pursuant to subdivision (9) of section 161.092, RSMo, and such other rules and regulations as determined by the commissioner of education, excepting such waivers shall be confined to the school and not other schools in the district unless such other schools meet the criteria established by the state board of education consistent with subsection 3 of this section and the waivers shall not include the requirements contained in this section and section 160.514. Any waiver provided to any school as outlined in this subsection shall be void on June thirtieth of any school year in which the school fails to meet the criteria established by the state board of education consistent with subsection 3 of this section.

5. The score on any assessment test developed pursuant to this section or this chapter of any student for whom English is a second language shall not be counted until such time as such student has been educated for three full school years in a school in this state, or in any other state, in which English is the primary language.

6. The state board of education shall identify one or more preexisting developmentally appropriate alternate assessments for students who receive special educational services, as that term is defined pursuant to section 162.675, RSMo. Students with disabilities who are not able to participate in the general assessment as determined by the student's individualized education program teams and who either:

(1) Function at an academic level at least four grade levels below that student's level on the general assessment based on the student's age; or shall be eligible to participate in the alternative standardized assessment.

(2) Possess an Intelligence Quotient (IQ) between fifty and seventy;

7. The alternative standardized assessment shall utilize assessment tools that are standardized for the listed population as provided in subsection 6 of this section. A school district or a special school district wishing to utilize an alternative standardized assessment shall submit a written proposal for approval to the department of elementary and secondary education delineating the alternative standardized assessment such school district aspires to utilize. The department of elementary and secondary education must respond to the written proposal submitted by such district within sixty calendar days. The primary skill area to be assessed by the alternative standardized assessment shall be independent living skills, which includes how effectively the student addresses common life demands and how well the student meets standards for personal independence expected for someone in the student's age group, sociocultural background, and community setting."; and

2. Preservice teacher programs established under this section shall include, but need not be limited to, the following provisions:

(1) A program of entry-level testing of all prospective teacher education students shall be established at all colleges and universities offering approved teacher education programs and, with the advice of the advisory council as provided in section 168.015, shall be administered by the commissioner of education, who shall cause the department of elementary and secondary education to develop or select such tests to establish abilities necessary to receive a satisfactory rating, and to establish procedures for the administering of the test;

Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. This section and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2002, shall be invalid and void. The preservice teacher assessment shall be reviewed by the certifying authority prior to issuance of a certificate. Journal of the Senate

FIFTIETH DAY--TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 2002

President Maxwell in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"All progress has resulted from people who took unpopular positions." (Adlai E. Stevenson)

Almighty God, we thank You for being with us as we realize that many times in order to do the right thing we often find ourselves at odds with others. Grant us the strength and love to follow where You are directing our hearts and minds and allow us to effectively do what we must. And we pray for Representative Tom Dempsey's mother, Peggy, who underwent heart surgery yesterday and we ask for Your healing presence and power to flow through her body, restoring her to full health. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

A quorum being established, the Senate proceeded with its business.

The Journal of the previous day was read and approved.

Photographers from the Associated Press were given permission to take pictures in the Senate Chamber today.
